SULZER'S FATE IS WITH JUDGES

FINAL ARGUMENTS FOR AND AGAINST DELIVERED IN IMPEACHMENT TRIAL.

WILL MEET MONDAY

UPON RECONVENING COURT TO DECIDE PLANS OF BALLOTING.

PARKER DENOUNCES BITTERLY

In Scathing Address Refers to "Attempt to Hide Behind Petticoats." Brackett Speaks.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Governor Wm. Sulzer's fate tonight rests with his judges. The final arguments of counsel for and against him were delivered today before the high court of impeachment.

Immediately thereafter the court adjourned until next Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Upon reconvening the court will decide upon its plan of balloting, whether it shall be done in open or executive session and then take up the constitutional objections to the impeachment charges that have been raised by counsel for the governor. If the judges hold adversely in whole or in part to the contentions of Sulzer's counsel, a vote on his guilt or innocence will follow.

The next question to be decided will be, will he be removed from office? Should this be decided affirmatively the judges will then vote on whether additional punishment disqualifying him from ever holding public office in this state again, shall be meted out to him.

A decision of his fitness to continue in office will be reached Monday night. It is generally believed. There doubtless will be much discussion among the judges and many votes preceded by lengthy explanations. So it would not be surprising if the court should continue in session until some time Tuesday. Popular demand is for an open session of the court.

No record has been kept of the proceedings of the few executive sessions, which have been held, and this has aroused much criticism.

The decision to adjourn until Monday was not reached without objection. Judge Werner, however, called attention to the fact that the court remained in session and subjecting itself to the criticism of "railroading a case" and pleaded for an adjournment until then.

As a compromise it was agreed to extend the usual Friday session an hour and a half and permit Attorney Edgar T. Brackett, who was waiting to sum up for the board of managers, to deliver his address.

No more bitter criticism has been made of the governor and his kind words have been said in his behalf than were heard in the court room today.

Alton B. Parker Denounces.

Defiance, denunciation, preparation, attempts to suppress and falsify testimony and efforts to cast the blame elsewhere—each in turn, declared Judge Alton B. Parker, counsel for the board of managers, "has been stripped from his quaking flesh until he stands now naked before this court without a rag of his attempted vindication, clinging to his deformed and mutilated manhood. Every disguise has been torn from his back, from the petticoat in which he trusted for safety to the armor of defiance in which he threatened to attack and expose a political leadership to which we have found him suing for a merciful obliteration of his misdeeds and offering the bribe of submission."

To Judge D. Cady Herrick, chief of the governor's counsel, fell the task of saying the final word for the accused executive. The governor was pictured by Herrick as an honest but eccentric man, even the thought of committing a crime was a thing apart. The attorney did not seek to excuse the governor's method of obtaining campaign funds and admitted that Sulzer had low ethical standards, but argued that no criminal intent had been shown, and therefore the charges had not been sustained.

Judge Herrick sought to justify the governor's attempt to seek the political influence of Charles E. Murphy and Republican Chairman Wm. Barnes to stop his trial, as testified to by Allan A. Ryan. The truth of this testimony, which counsel for the governor allowed to go into the record without attempting to disprove, Judge Herrick appeared to concede.

Says Waco to Shield Wife.

To a determination to shield his wife the governor's failure to take the witness stand was attributed by the attorney, who declared also that the same motive prompted Mr. Sulzer.

George E. Davis, Who Confessed That He Dynamited Bridge

George E. Davis, who has just confessed that he dynamited bridges throughout the east for the International Bridge and Structural Ironworkers' association, for which Orlie McManigal and the McNamara worked in the west, has been taken to Indianapolis.

Among the men he implicates is Harry Jones, now the secretary of the International Bridge and Structural Ironworkers' association. Jones was arrested in Indianapolis.

Davis gave detailed accounts of the blowing up of eleven bridges. Other jobs of the same kind, he said, were planned, but for one reason or another failed to materialize. He traced his own movements from one part of the country to another.

He described his meetings with the big men of the union. He told how every step he took was carefully doctored into a general scheme outlined in the central offices of the association in Indianapolis.

Davis admitted that he went about his work in a way that frightened the very men who directed it. Frank M. Ryan, collected president of the association, now out on bail, fairly recoiled from this young man, whose nerve appeared equal to any deed, according to Davis' confession. Frank C. Webb, he said, cautioned him again and again to go easy.

PRESIDENT TO CLAYTON

IN PERSONAL LETTER REQUESTS ALABAMA REPRESENTATIVE TO REMAIN IN HOUSE.

If Request is Granted Will Put End to Sensational Content Now Being Waged.

Washington, Oct. 10.—President Wilson today wrote a personal letter to Representative Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, who is a candidate for the senate, telling him that it was indispensable to the carrying out of the democratic party's anti-trust program to have him remain in the house as chairman of the judiciary committee. The president made no mention of the Alabama senatorial contest, but said he was greatly concerned at the prospect of losing Mr. Clayton from the house.

Representative Clayton tonight issued the following statement:

"Recognizing the president as the head of the party, I don't see how I can refuse to accede to his expressed wishes. I will, however, make a formal reply to the president's letter in a day or two."

Mr. Clayton told friends tonight that he would withdraw from the senatorial race. He was appointed by Governor O'Neal of Alabama to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Johnson. His credentials were held up, however, so his withdrawal would mean the end of the governor's authority to make the appointment with legislative action.

I foresee, wrote the president, "the chief responsibility of the next session will lie with the committee on judiciary, of which you are chairman. Our work cannot be finished in a single session. If I dared, I would beg you to remain in the house."

Recognizing the president as the head of the party, I don't see how I can refuse to accede to his expressed wishes. I will, however, make a formal reply to the president's letter in a day or two."

POISON SEARCH YIELDS ARSENIC

PROF. SPENCER ASCERTAINS CAUSE OF DEATH OF CHILDREN.

EVIDENCE OF HIDEOUS CRIME

Bosque's Double Tragedy No Longer a Mystery—Up to Authorities Now to Find Poisoner.

Arsenic taken from the parts of the viscera of little Oscar and Richard Etheridge brought to the chemical laboratory of Baylor university by Dr. J. Frank McDonald, health officer of Bosque county, today stands as ghastly evidence that a hideous crime was committed Thursday, Oct. 2, when the children of J. D. Etheridge of Bosque died, writhing in agony.

It remains only for the authorities of Bosque to identify the hand that sent the innocent, prattling babes to their death and prove the guilt of the poisoner.

Two Tests Necessary.

The laborious, scientific search for the deadly agency that caused the deaths of the two children, begun by Prof. Samuel R. Spencer, analytical chemist, last Saturday, culminated yesterday afternoon in the discovery of the poison. The stomachs and livers of the two children yielded the first traces of the white transparent arsenic oxide only when the second chemical test was applied. At a late hour yesterday afternoon, when Prof. Spencer rested from his tedious work, he had extracted from the viscera but a small quantity of the poison. It was sufficient, however, to determine beyond the peradventure of a doubt that the bodies of both children had held arsenic enough to account for their sudden and shocking end.

Going After More Arsenic.

The Bosque county authorities have not been deterred by the results of the chemical analysis. Prof. Spencer has placed the poison extracted from the viscera in a receptacle and it will be carefully guarded until delivered to the Bosque county officers. The analytical chemist is now making a search today, it being his desire to extract every particle of the poison possible.

Realizing the importance of making a positive identification of the poison, the character and quantity of poison taken from the viscera, Prof. Spencer will take the precaution of probing for traces of the poison in the soil around the bodies of the children, and under the bearing of the result of his chemical analysis.

May Hear From Bosque Today.

The reply of Dr. McDonald to the chemist's request for other parts of the viscera of the buried children is expected this afternoon. The health officer was authorized by the county attorney not in a position to act upon the request until authorized by the county attorney or judge. Hence no word came from him yesterday. Chemist Spencer also has expressed the opinion that in view of the statement made to the county authorities by Dr. C. C. Costin, former physician of the Etheridge family, that the two children of the farmer who died last June exhibited symptoms similar to the children of the Etheridge family, that the two children fatally stricken October 2, the bodies of the first should be subjected to analysis. It would be even more difficult to ascertain whether or not the first of the Etheridge children to go to their graves were poisoned or died from natural causes.

Up to Attorney H. S. Dillard.

What action will be taken by the county attorney remains to be seen. He will be heard from probably before the close of today. Mrs. Etheridge, the stepmother of the children, in former physician's statement, she learned today of the result of the chemical analysis of the bodies of Oscar and Richard.

The two children who died last June were aged respectively 2 and 10 years. It was supposed at the time that they died from acute indigestion, although Dr. Costin, who attended them, did not specifically commit himself as to the cause of their deaths. In his recent conversation with the health officer, the physician said he had never been able to determine what malady carried them off.

Webb Consents to Answer.

General Manager of Katy Changes His Decision and Will Put End to Contest.

Austin, Oct. 10.—W. A. Webb, general manager of the Katy railroad, has consented to answer the question offered by Commissioner Thurman Barrett yesterday at Walnut Springs, and upon the refusal to answer the same a contempt order was placed against the Katy manager. Although action was suspended by the district court, the attorney general was advised today that Mr. Webb had agreed to answer the questions regarding his salary.

This will do away with any contest arising when the time comes to take the case to the court and will hasten the trial.

Emperor Orders Schooner.

Hamburg, Oct. 10.—Emperor William today ordered from Max Oertz, Hamburg yacht builder, a new schooner to replace his present yacht Meteor.

Oertz was the designer of the Meteor, as well as of the Germania, belonging to Gustav Von Krup Bohlen and slalbach and several other successful 75-foot yachts. The new schooner for the emperor probably will have less water line than its predecessor, which was forced to concede a heavy line allowance to competitors.

Texas Postmasters Meet.

Galveston, Tex., Oct. 10.—The Texas Postmasters' association and the League of Texas Postmasters began today a four-day convention here this morning with the attendance well over 400. The postmasters were welcomed to the city by Mayor Lewis Fisher. A number of entertainment features have been arranged.

CURRENCY PATH SMOOTHED OUT

CONSERVATIVE EXPRESSIONS OF THOSE IN CLOSE SYMPATHY PREDICT EASIER SAILING.

TO BE NO ATTEMPT AT HURRY

President Wants Early Action, but No Line Drawn for Passage December 1.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Conservative expressions of democrats known to be in close sympathy with the administration today led to the general belief that the path of the currency bill has been smoothed out, at least for a time. Apparently there is to be no attempt to hurry the senate in its work unless conditions should develop in the banking and currency committee that threaten to defeat or greatly delay legislation.

While President Wilson wants early action on the Glass bill, close friends of the administration are making it clear now that they don't draw an arbitrary line at December 1 as the date for its passage.

Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia today said the passage of the bill in January would be as much an administrative victory as its enactment in November and the same view is held by many other senate democrats who are counselling the administration against drawing party lines on the bill or attempting to prevent reasonable debate.

The general purposes of the currency bill, endorsed today before the senate committee by James G. Jannett, president of the Fourth National bank of New York, and A. F. Dawson, president of the First National bank of New York, la. Both asserted the bill was designed to remedy in large measure the defects in the present financial system. Both recommended a number of amendments.

No Shooting in October.

Open Season Will Be From November 1 to February 1—Efforts Will Be Made to Enforce Strictly.

Austin, Oct. 10.—Shooting of ducks, geese, and other birds is prohibited during the month of October, according to orders received by the game, fish and oyster commission from the biological survey of the department of agriculture at Washington. The open season on ducks, geese and other water fowl and shore birds in Texas will be from November 1 to February 1.

A strenuous effort will be made to enforce the present game laws. According to Washington reports, the country has been divided into thirteen districts. An experienced inspector is in charge of each district and under the law are 200 wardens picked by the state. The Texas inspector has not been named at this place.

Further instructions will soon arrive as to the methods and penalties for violations of the federal statutes. According to those already received the hours between sunset and sunrise cannot be used for hunting.

Former President of American Trust Company Testifies in Fraud Cases.

Memphis, Oct. 10.—That the American Trust company of Memphis, which at one time during its two months' existence made report of resources of $311,000 and capital paid in of $200,000, operated without the formality of opening a set of books, never elected officers, nor was there ever a meeting of the stockholders, were the substance of the admissions today of J. M. McDonald, former president of the bank.

McDonald, O. E. Helton, who was known as the treasurer of the concern, and E. L. Henney and E. R. Odle, whose names appeared on the bank's literature as directors, are on trial in the United States district court here, charged with violating the postal laws.

McDonald was on the witness stand the greater part of the day and, like Helton and Odle, who testified yesterday, declared J. M. Sims, the vice president, conceived the idea of the organization of the trust company as a great holding company to act as custodian for banks in smaller cities and directed its affairs. Sims is now serving sentence in the United States prison at Atlanta, Ga., for misuse of the mails. McDonald testified the real motive of the state controller of the bank's condition was made up from slips and memoranda kept in a desk drawer.

It is the contention of the government that close relationship existed between the trust company and All Night and Day banks of this and other cities, which eventually closed their doors, and several officers of which have been convicted of irregular banking methods.

Henderson, who was also president of the Memphis All Night and Day bank, will testify when the trial is resumed Monday.

R. G. Hardeman of Kansas City, Kan.; Charles Marsh of Kansas City, Mo.; and C. W. Edmonds testified as character witnesses for McDonald.

Hear Burley Petition.

Austin, Tex., Oct. 10.—Notice of hearing of the petition of the citizens of Burley, Bailey county, to require the Texas and Northern Texas Railway company to provide and maintain adequate station facilities was set by the railroad commission today for November 11.

ROBERT L. HENRY IS IN THIS CITY

HE STILL BOOSTS McCOLLUM

Reiterates Statement That He Is to Be Local Postmaster—Talks of Administration.

Hon. Robert Lee Henry, member of the national house of representatives for this congress district, will reach Waco this morning at daylight on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas fast train.

Congressman Henry has been in the west. He was designated by President Wilson to represent the government at the unveiling of a monument to Balboa, in California, and for several weeks he has been in that far western section, where he was entertained by the people. He was in San Antonio yesterday on his way back east, and telegraphed to G. L. Stirling, his associate in law practice, that he would arrive in Waco this morning.

This will be the first visit that Congressman Henry has made to his district in several months, being kept in Washington by the currency and tariff legislation, in which he was interested. He will remain here only today, and while in Waco will be at the New State house.

Henry at San Antonio.

San Antonio, Oct. 10.—Congressman Robert L. Henry of Waco, after spending the afternoon here, started home over the Katy tonight. He declined absolutely to discuss the reports that he will be a candidate for the United States senate to succeed Senator Culberson and said there is nothing else of a political nature he cares to make comment on just now.

He will be at Waco until Sunday, going then to open the East Texas fair at Tyler Monday. After that he will return to Waco and propose remaining in Texas until about November 10, when he will be the principal orator at the Farmers' Day exercises at the State Fair in Dallas.

Sometime soon, probably in November, Mr. Henry will chaperone Senator Riano, the Spanish minister at Washington, on a tour of the old missions in Southwest Texas. Senator Riano and Mr. Henry were fellow guests of the San Diego exposition during the recent dedication exercises in the California city, where Mr. Henry had gone at the personal request of the president and to act as the representative of Mr. Wilson.

During his brief stay here Mr. Henry told Congressmen Garner, who is also a visitor, and the two had a pleasant chat, both eschewing politics. Mr. Henry reiterated his determination to have Col. A. R. McCollum appointed postmaster of Waco at the expiration of the term of the incumbent. He says there are few postmasterships in his district demanding immediate attention. Every recommendation he has made has been followed by the postoffice department.

The Wilson originals in Texas, says his admiration for the president grows with the passing of every month. "This is the administration honeymoon," he said, "and it is well as we should have done. I expect him to prove the faith of the American people was not misplaced throughout his stay in the white house," he added.

MACKEN DEFEAT THE GIANTS IN CLOSE GAME

Bender in Top Form Holds New York Helpless Until Merkle Starts Serious Trouble With Home Run.

THROWS BIG SCARE INTO PHILADELPHIA

From Seemingly Ignominious Defeat McGraw's Men Get Glimpse of Victory and Put Up Game Fight But Lose 6 to 5.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—But one victory stands between the Philadelphia Athletics and the world's championship tonight. The Macken defeated the New York Giants at Shibe park this afternoon by a score of 6 to 5 in the fourth game of the titular series. Before the contest was clinched, however, 26,000 Quaker City fans suffered a period of anxious suspense that will keep the Giants' eleventh hour batting rally green in their memory for some seasons to come. The game effort of the National League players to overtake their rivals in the closing innings of the game changed the entire complexion of the battle, lifting what appeared to be a one-sided match into a contest that hung in the balance until the last put out.

Demaree received a warm welcome at the start, but it was not until the second inning that the first Athletics crossed the plate. McInnis opened with a Texas Leaguer that Snodgrass couldn't reach. Strunk sacrificed and Barry's double scored McInnis. The big blow came in the fourth. With one out, Strunk knocked Herzog over with a smashing single and Barry put him on third with another, taking second on Snodgrass' throw to third. Schang followed with a vicious liner past Doyle, scoring Strunk and Barry. He went on to second on the throw to the plate and to third a moment later on McLean's passed ball. Schang scored when Merkle fumbled Bender's grounder.

Marquard to Rescue.

When the Athletics next came to bat they faced Marquard and after two outs had been recorded Strunk walked on four successive ones. Barry's second double to left put Strunk on third and Schang promptly singled to center, scoring both Strunk and Barry. Bender went out, Marquard to Merkle, and the Athletics' run gathering for the day was ended.

The desperate, but as it proved, futile rally came like a bolt from a clear sky.

Chief Bender, the Chippewa Indian, master of the mysterious curves and breaks, had held the Giants for six innings while his teammates by pile driving hits had scored as many runs at the expense of Demaree and Marquard.

The Vaco congressmen, who was one of the Wilson originals in Texas, says his admiration for the president grows with the passing of every month. "This is the administration honeymoon," he said, "and it is well as we should have done. I expect him to prove the faith of the American people was not misplaced throughout his stay in the white house," he added.

Further instructions will soon arrive as to the methods and penalties for violations of the federal statutes. According to those already received the hours between sunset and sunrise cannot be used for hunting.

Recognizes Waco As Wholesale Trade Center

Waco's logical position in the center of the state, the railroad facilities and the favorable transportation rates, are factors that are proving attractive to the jobbing interests of the country and just now there is a movement on foot to organize a wholesale dry goods company in this city.

The proposition comes from a man who is now in the dry goods business in one of the large cities of the country. He proposed to take $100,000 worth of stock, friends who will take an interest with him agree to take $50,000 worth of stock and Waco people are asked to subscribe $120,000 in stock. Such propositions are not handled by the Chamber of Commerce, and the proposition was referred to a committee of citizens. A meeting was held yesterday morning in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, at which E. W. Marshall presided. Among those attending were E. Rotan, A. R. Roberts, W. T. Herrick, Howell McCullough, H. M. Balne, Sol Hirschberg, S. Keatner, John R. Fisher, J. W. Riggs. The proposition was discussed and there were several tentative agreements to subscribe for the stock that is to be floated in Waco. The gentlemen who took part in the meeting believe the proposition is a good one and that the company will be organized.

DEFICIENCY REPORTED

CONFEREES ON URGENT APPROPRIATION BILL REPORT TO HOUSE.

Opposition Strong to Civil Service Amendment and Abolishing Commerce Court.

Washington, Oct. 10.—By the closest vote of the session, 111 to 106, the house late tonight voted to recede from its conferees' disagreement and to concur in the senate amendment to the urgent deficiency appropriation bill, which provides for the removal of deputy internal revenue collectors and deputy marshals from civil service regulations.

The vote came after a protracted debate, in which many democrats bitterly assailed the proposal as a direct blow at civil service and characterized it as a step backwards towards the spoils system. The democratic revolt was led by Representative Fitzgerald of New York and fifty-four democrats voted against concurrence, which was brought up on a motion by Representative Bartlett of Georgia.

Representative Underwood, the majority leader, who did not take part in the debate, was loudly cheered when he voted aye. Four members voted present, six more than a quorum answering to their names.

Other matters in disagreement, among them an appropriation of $7,000 for an automobile for the vice president, will be taken up when the house meets tomorrow. Representative Fitzgerald of New York injected into the debate a speech on New York politics and a defense of Tammany hall, assailing John Pursey Mitchell, fusion candidate for mayor of New York. He said he was sick and tired of hearing Tammany hall vilified by opponents of the democratic party and declared that he would not be a party to it.

GIVES $6,000,000 FOR MISSIONS

THREE-YEAR RECORD OF PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

DIVORCE QUESTION DISCUSSED

One Diocese Moves That Marriage After Legal Separation Be Forbidden.

New York, Oct. 10.—Six million dollars given for missions within three years by members of the Protestant Episcopal church was shown by the mission board of the church at today's session of the denomination at its forty-fourth annual convention. Marriage and divorce, whether high and low churchmen, shall have equal representation on the standing committees and proposed changes in convention procedure were other subjects which were discussed, but no decisive action was taken.

The marriage and divorce controversy moved one diocese to offer a resolution that marriage after divorce be forbidden. Another diocese requested physicians' certificates as a requisite to marriage within the church. The showing on missions, however, especially pleasing to the delegates. The report of the board was received by the house of bishops and delegates in joint session. Besides showing a total of $6,000,000 gathered together by the church for work in foreign fields during the past three years, the report indicated that gifts for mission work had increased more than $400,000 since the last triennial convention. Appropriations for the year ending August 1st amounted to $1,323,377. The board reported it was not ready to take jurisdiction over the Central American field, transferred to the American church from the Church of England. On account of the present financial situation, it recommended that disposition be postponed until the next triennial convention and that meanwhile a deputation be sent to study the situation in Central America.

Work Among Mountain People.
At the afternoon joint session of the two houses four bishops who talked were limited to fifteen minutes. One of them, Bishop Nelson, told of the churches' work among the mountain and mill people of the south.

On Monday the bishops will decide whether to adopt a policy of publicity. Dr. Alexander Mann, pastor of Trinity church of Boston, the low church representative who was elected president of the house of deputies, gave out a statement today relating to his policy of giving practically equal representation of high and low church to the standing committees he appointed yesterday. In carrying out what he declared he had recognized neither the high nor low church for preference, adding:

"It is to the glory of the church and makes to its Catholicity that there is room for high, low and broad stripe of churchmanship. It is to recognize one to the exclusion of the others we become no longer a Catholic church, but degenerate into a mere sect. Whatever influence I may possess as president of the house of deputies will be exerted to avert such a lamentable occurrence."

KANSAS CITY MILL BURNS.

$400,000 Loss—Rumors of Loss of Life But Not Confirmed.

Kansas City, Oct. 10.—Fire early today destroyed the six-story mill building of the Southwestern Milling company at Eleventh street and Kansas avenue, Kansas City, Kansas, and the mill's power plant, a short distance away. It was thought several men working on the upper floors of the mill had been trapped by the flames, but the officers of the fire department were inclined to doubt that there had been loss of life.

All of the men had not been accounted for early today, but the fire officials said only a few of the men would confirm rumors that many of the employees had not escaped.

The loss was estimated at $400,000. The mill had a capacity of 30,000 barrels of flour a day and was Kansas City's largest milling concern. Four hundred men were employed at the mill.

FIRST HAIL OF SEASON.

Comes to Town Shortly After Midnight on a Brisk Northern.

A brisk "norther" swept down on Waco this morning, shortly after the midnight hour. It was accompanied by a fall of rain and the first hail of the season. There was a sharp drop in the temperature, the mercury in the tube descending about ten degrees in the first quarter of an hour after the cold blast struck the city. At 1:20 o'clock the skies cleared and the stars were shining brightly. The wind, however, continued high, cooling the atmosphere considerably.

Giants Arrive Home.

New York, Oct. 10.—The New York Giants arrived here tonight from Philadelphia. They were greeted with a quieter demonstration than the one they met on their arrival home after Wednesday's victory over the Athletics. A friendly crowd of several hundred fans shouted words of hope and encouragement however, and the prevailing good nature of the welcoming delegation brought smiles to the Giants' faces despite the defeat today. The players went to their home to rest for tomorrow's contest here.

Art Students Will Bury Girl.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Miss Ida Leegson, the art student who was strangled last Saturday night, will be buried by students of the art institute where she formerly studied. They started a burial fund today when informed that no relatives had claimed the body.

While the diligent search for the negro who is believed to have killed her continues, detectives are also working on the theory that Miss Leegson may have been tortured for hours in a hut about a quarter of a mile from where the body was found.

Coffee King Marries.

New York, Oct. 10.—Herman Sliken, known as "Coffee King," and originator of the Brazilian valorization plan, was married on Tuesday evening, Germany, to Clara Wendroth of Bremen, it was announced today. Mrs. Wendroth was a widow. Her father, the late Paul Isenberg, was a wealthy sugar planter in the Hawaiian islands and on his death bequeathed to her a large fortune. Mr. Sliken's first wife died about seven years ago.

SEGUIN LADY AND HER SICK BROTHER

Miss Eikel Nursed Him in San Antonio—Some Points About Vitalitas.

Miss Emilie Eikel, of Seguin, Texas, was called to San Antonio by the serious illness of her brother. She there took the part of nurse and performed the sick room duties so assiduously that her own strength and health gave way.

"I want to tell you what a great tonic Vitalitas is," said Miss Eikel. "I have always suffered with torpid liver and under the strain and physical breakdown this ailment grew more pronounced. Vitalitas quickly restored me to health. That was three months ago. I am now hearty. I don't think Vitalitas can be too highly recommended."

Vitalitas puts into weakened and impoverished systems, chemical essence and forces that are essential to robust health. A large per cent of human ills are due to lack of these chemical elements. Whenever there is weakened or diseased tissues Vitalitas plays an important part. It energizes and revitalizes; it dissolves poisons and forces them from the system. Many germ diseases are quickly and permanently banished by the use of this wonderful new earth fluid. In thousands of cases it has proven effective in the relief and cure of such disorders as indigestion, gas, bloating, sour stomach, rheumatism, biliousness and various ills of liver and kidneys, bowels and blood.

STORM DAMAGE TO VESSELS

Coastwise Boats Hurry to Ports for Protection Off the Carolinas.

Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 10.—Considerable damage has been done to shipping in this vicinity by a storm which late today was centered off the Carolinas. The disturbance sent coastwise vessels hurrying to port for protection.

The revenue cutter Seminole today picked up the four masted schooner John Twohy, abandoned at sea, and attempted to tow her to Cape Fear harbor. The schooner struck on the shoals, however, and could not be floated.

The master and ten members of the crew of the schooner which was bound Jacksonville to New York were rescued by the British steamer Kilnsea and landed at Norfolk, Va., tonight. The Kilnsea from Galveston to Hamburg via Norfolk on October 7, discovered the John Twohy in distress 60 miles off Frying Pan shoals. Early on October 8 all hands were taken off and the Twohy abandoned. Late today the schooner Dorothy Bell, Dardeno, Ga., to New York, lumber laden, entered Cape Fear harbor leaking badly and tonight is anchored at Southport. The schooner Greenleaf Johnson, Wilmington to New York, was reported ashore on the Shallotte, N. C., bar and in danger of destruction. A tug from Wilmington went to her aid tonight.

HUERTA ARRESTS 110 DEPUTIES

MEMBERS OF CHAMBERS SIGNING WARNING TO PRESIDENT IN PENITENTIARY.

TROOPS SURROUND BUILDING

When Session Opens Leaders Are Placed in Automobiles and Taken to Prison.

Mexico City, Oct. 10.—One hundred and ten members of the chamber of deputies who had signed resolutions of warning to President Huerta as the result of the disappearance of Dr. Belisario Dominguez, a member of the senate, last night, were arrested tonight and lodged in the penitentiary. Five other deputies who signed the resolution were absent tonight when a cordon of troops was thrown about the legislative building and several hundred soldiers invaded the chamber.

The arrests followed a demand by President Huerta that the chamber withdraw the resolution, which carried the threat that the deputies would abandon the capital, owing to an alleged lack of guarantees for their personal safety.

Senator Dominguez early in the month made a speech in the senate violently attacking Huerta, saying that not only had nothing been done, but that the present situation in the republic was infinitely worse than before. He said the currency of Mexico had depreciated, fields had been neglected and towns razed and that famine threatened. He added that the situation was due first and foremost to the fact that the Mexican people could not resign themselves to be governed by Huerta.

Before the hour for the regular opening of the session of the chamber at 4 o'clock this afternoon the basement and roofs of the building had been packed with troops. Scores of police were scattered through the gallery.

When the deputies were in their places Minister of the Interior Manuel Garza Aldape entered the chamber. Simultaneously several hundred troops lined up in front of the chamber. Senator Aldape ascended the platform and read the report of President Huerta to the resolution warning him of the deputies' intention to dissolve the parliament and hold their sessions elsewhere and demanding an investigation of the disappearance of Senator Dominguez. The report said that President Huerta could do no less than consider the resolution an act of unjustified aggression and transgression of the rights of the other two powers of the executive and the courts.

When the arrests were made a few of the leaders were placed in automobiles, while the other deputies were taken to the penitentiary in street cars.

Meanwhile similar demands to resign had been made upon members of the senate who had concurred in the chamber's resolution. A committee of senators called on President Huerta and signified their willingness to comply with his demands. Later the senators formally withdrew this action.

In anticipation of possible trouble, heavy patrols of troops are on the streets tonight. The rapid-fire guns which were posted in the interior courts of the palace last February are again in place and quantities of ammunition are at hand.

Commanders to Be Executed.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 10.—Friends of Gen. Pascual Orozco and General Diaz Salazar, former rebel commanders, now in command of federal forces, received advices from Chihuahua today saying both commanders were slated by the federal government for execution. The report said that President Huerta had since the present revolution began.

Lind Watches Situation.

Vera Cruz, Oct. 10.—Stories of the stand taken by the chamber of deputies and by the senate regarding the disappearance of Senator Dominguez were published here today. John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative, is watching the situation.

The speech Senator Dominguez is reported to have made in the senate recently, bitterly attacking President Huerta, it is believed here, may have had something to do with the disappearance.

Battle at Diaz.

El Paso, Oct. 10.—A battle between 100 federalists under General Marcelino Caraveo, J. Mancilla and Jose Salazar and the rebel columns of Generals Chao and Rosalia Hernandez began this morning at Diaz station, twenty-three miles north of Jimenez, Chihuahua, according to an official message to the Juarez Herald. The Juarez military authorities have been unable to obtain any details.

The troops engaged are the same which fought north of Santa Rosalia a week ago in which the federalists were victorious.

If the federalists are successful again, they will continue southward to Torreon, orders having been received to rush as many men as possible to Torreon to assist in retaking the city from the rebel forces. General Blanquet stated that already 8,000 men with heavy artillery were proceeding toward Torreon from another direction to attack the town.

The convention will finish its work tomorrow.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—A library of Chicago debutantes is to be established by the Chicago Historical society. At the end of each social season an album will be made up of the photographs of well-known young women who will be shown in their coming-out gowns.

The King's Daughters hold Market Sale at the Parish building.

THE EUTERPEAN CLUB URGES FULL ATTENDANCE

In meeting this afternoon, it is urged that all members of the Euterpean club attend. Not only is the first program, and an attractive one, to be rendered, but plans for the year perfected. The Euterpeans are making radical departures this season, and it is necessary that all members understand. Also, the club must take action concerning Woman's Day parade.

STANLEY FORCE LEAVES TO MARRY IN SHERMAN

On Monday Stanley Force is leaving for Sherman, where he weds Miss Louise Anderson. This young bride is recruited here, her father having been one of the instructors at the Texas Christian university. Mr. Force is accompanied by Miss Lucile Lewis, who will be one of the bride's attendants. Invitations have been among the groom's home friends for two weeks.

CALL FOR SHAKSPERE CLUB TO MEET ON MONDAY

The secretary of the Shakspeare club is notifying former members of the first meeting in this new year. This will take place with Miss Kate Friend, 525 Terrace Row, at 3 o'clock. All former members are expected, as the important subject of entrance into the Woman's Parade is to be decided.

Quite a number of newcomers to the city have been making inquiry as to joining this club. For these it is said that the Shakspeare club is one for voluntarily application for membership. The club feels that seeking memberships conveys an interest deeper than if the lukewarm member is invited. The protection against undesirable members is that each one, to be applied must be endorsed by one present member. All applications should be sent to the home of Miss Friend or to Mrs. J. W. Downs, South Third street, as president of the club, before Monday.

SOME PERSONAL NOTES AMONG THE LINGERERS

There are yet lingering over the country a number of our home women. Yet, these are sending messages of their plans which will return them all before Cotton Palace days.

The Mesdames Fred Mayer and Homer Wilson sent cards which reached Waco on Friday. These are enjoying the many sights of interest in Washington City. They arrive at home on October twelve.

Mrs. J. W. Higgins with the three Misses Higgins have taken passage from California and will reach home today.

The Mesdames Horace Pickett and Clarence Hubby, who had intended earlier arrival, remained until weather conditions were more favorable for a steamer voyage. They are now on-bound for New Orleans, hence to Waco.

Mrs. Marie Holway, who left late in the season, lingers with relatives in Pennsylvania. She is expected with the last week in October.

Miss Roberta Early has sufficient engagements among relatives and friends in Virginia and Tennessee to detain her until December.

THE BAYLOR ROUND TABLE HAS SOCIAL SESSION

For the beginning of what promises to be profitable as well as pleasant year for the members of the Baylor Round Table, Mrs. F. G. Guitard entertained for a social session to sound the tocsin for real work on Socialism and Eugenics. This idea was given accent since three brides, brides of only the vacation months, were to be welcomed to the Round Table. These are the Mesdames Henry Trantham, Whitney Harrell and Fred Rogers. Also Mrs. Guitard extended special invitation to Mesdames Tenie Seale and Margaret Kendall with the Mesdames A. E. White and Sims of Amarillo. Another new member to be welcomed was Miss Lily McIlroy. The Round Table has never had such full membership. With Mrs. Guitard only incidentally was the study discussed. This, as prepared by the Mesdames T. H. Claypool, F. G. Guitard and J. L. Kessler, will be begun with next Thursday when the Round Table is again with Mrs. Guitard. The members had some funny experiences to relate. Some had been abroad, some had been in the kitchen; so, it was indeed that variety which makes the spice of life.

THE BACHELOR MAIDS PLAY WITH MISS CLINTON

The new members for this season were welcomed into the inner circle of Bachelor Maids during its first game. This found Miss Lydia Clinton hostess. Several of the Maids are out of the city for prolonged absence. This makes the substitute list large. Miss Clinton invited to play with her the Misses Minniebeal and Camille Webb of Albany, with Misses Anne Risher and Marian Duncan. Her prizes were won by Miss Janet Gorman, one of the new members, and Miss Anne Risher. The other members elected for the new season are the Misses Lucile Hill, Beuna Clinton and Ellen Harden. The next game will be played with Miss Monette Colkin on Thursday, the regular day of the week for the games.

THE MAIDS AND MATRONS WITH MRS. COLMAN

It is the Maids and Matrons no longer. None but married members are to be received, and the club has changed the name to suit its game, auction bridge. So, that thenceforth the Maids and Matrons will be known in card circles as the Thursday Auction Bridge. Mrs. William Carroll is the president. The hostess of the past week was Mrs. Robert Coleman, who, by additional guests, gave her club all the flurry of a card party. The prizes were a Minton plate, which was won by Mrs. C. M. Chiebee, and a boudoir cap, which was won by Mrs. Lon Sparks. The next game comes with Mrs. Carroll. The members of the club are for this season the Mesdames Carroll, Robert Coleman, Shil Parks, Ed Laughlin, M. D. Baker, Edwin Jurney, B. K. Jennings, J. J. Powers, C. N. Smith, H. C. Wingo, Frank Wells and F. G. Goodman. For Mrs. Coleman's game there were added Miss Queen Barnett with the Mesdames J. W. Whitworth, Ludwig Williams, W. E. Lincoln, James Mistrout, Will Early, Mercant Colkin, W. P. Beaumont, M. Chiebee, L. M. Woollett and Lon Sparks.

A MORNING SERVICE GIVES PRETTY DETAILS

In the marriage of Miss Jessie Lacy, daughter of Mrs. N. J. Lacy, to J. Clark Jones, the auditorium of the Columbus Street Baptist church was given a very tasteful setting. The altar bank of fresh and fall foliage was reflected by the first white chrysanthemums of this season. The white also confined the ribbon seats for the immediate friends. But there was another pleasing detail, and this was the voice of Lowell James to the accompaniment of Miss Helen Lacy, which announced an unusually interesting service. Many friends gathered, friends who had known this young bride all her life, and the groom through his several years residence in this city. One felt that interest supreme was through this assembly. The ushers were Clifton Bowman and Gardner Gillespie. These preceded the bride as she came attended by her sister, Miss Ruby Lacy, and took station for the passing from the lecture of the groom with James Brodie as attendant.

Rev. Frank Groner gave the pastor's blessing after the sacred ceremony. It was then the glad appeal of music to say that Miss Jessie Lacy was now the wife of J. Clark Jones.

No formal reception was planned, but the bride party and the few who felt impelled by close association with this bride and groom drove to the Lacy home, for a health all round, some merry-making to give accent to the happiness of this hour, and a god-speed upon a wedding journey which began within the hour. A pretty table had been arranged for the passing of the punch cups, with tone of pink to reflect the rosy spirit of the occasion. The gifts also shared attention, these being a tribute of love and friendship from many. In this gift-giving the groom remembered his attendants with friendship pins. His gift to his bride was a handsome purse filled with the check which gives her her own bank account.

The Dress and Departure.

The wedding gown showed a suit of blue chiffon brocade, the same tone running from shoe to toque. The veil was the conventional bride's bouquet of white rose buds and the delicate lily valley spray. The maid wore a mahogany suit, carrying this now prevailing tone into all the details of her toilet. She repeated the flower of the bride's cluster in her corsage bunch. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are having an extensive journey which will take them as far as New York City. Returning within the next two weeks they will be with Mrs. J. M. Keith, Twelfth and Campbell streets. Until more permanent plans mature. They were hidden godspeed by many friends; they will be given home welcome by many more.

Fannie Pace McKinney is to be in Scranton, Pennsylvania, for this winter. She has just left a most delightful summer home among the mountains. The change is owing to her health.

The Mesdames Lucy Dickinson and Loretta Reeves are now domiciled for the winter in the new Robert Allen residence on North Eleventh.

When a man gets a proposal of marriage it is telegraphed all over the world. The women get these same proposals by the dozens and never a word is said. But man is not vain oh, no! All the vanity is locked within the woman.

Champe Clark's daughter advises skinny girls to go to Europe. Commenting upon this, a man editor says he has seen a plump girl go to Europe and return home so skinny that she looked as though the Lion of Lucerne had been chasing her all over the continent. This is comfort, so the fat girl may pack her suit case.

There is a woman who made a complaint that the less clothes women wear the more they cost is just about correct.

In the wake of Julian Eltinge, we ask, why it is that widows only are entitled to the adjective, fascinating? It was the glad appeal of music to say that Miss Jessie Lacy was now the wife of J. Clark Jones.

Jealousy and Envy Punished

It is a marvel of literature, the fidelity with which the Bible pictures the faults of its heroes. No effort is made to create a series of ideally perfect characters. That is what would have happened if it had been a strictly human production. The Bible gives us its people exactly as they are, without effort to gloss or extenuate. Noah—Abraham—Jacob—David—Peter—denying—Thomas—doubting. . . . So in this instance, Aaron has been his brother's mate from the very inception of the Exodus—has shared his honors and responsibilities. He is the very incarnation of ecclesiasticism—the embodiment of objective religion as it expresses itself in ritual, or the other hand, Miriam, Moses' sister, is the Virgin Mary of the Old Testament—the foremost woman—organizing and voicing the praise of the people on the deliverance from Pharaoh and the Red Sea. . . . But, with terrible fidelity, the Bible pictures the fall of brother and sister from their high estate. And the cause of it is so very human. They are envious and jealous. Miriam has been the "First lady of the land" and has liked being it! But Moses' wife has arrived in camp, and Miriam with a woman's quick intuition sees herself about to be displaced. The only way in which she can retain her laurels is to make herself equal to her brother, Moses. This she proceeds to do by disparaging him and exalting herself. Her claim is that God had spoken by Aaron, and that he shares his glory with Miriam in her folly. That the younger brother should be private seems always to have stuck in his craw. It has led him into trouble before. It is another instance where "base envy withers another's joy and hates the excellence it can not reach."

penalty visited was swift and terrible. The segregation of Miriam for seven days was in itself significant. If she had suffered some insult she would naturally retire from the public eye. So, in view of her own immoral act, she may well retreat and reflect. The same compunctions today would suggest reflection in solitude. This paragraph contains one of the characteristic and wonderful parenthetical exclamations of the Bible. "Now the man Moses was meek above all the men who were upon the face of the earth." It is the only time in which Moses is called meek. It seems to have no connection with what precedes or follows. Moses was meek, passionate, imperious, man. But he had obtained what Ruskin calls the greatest possession—namely, self-possession. He had lost the passion for revenge. He no longer resented a personal indignity. The motive of this self-control was religious. It was exercised toward God. Here is no femininity, but really superlative heroism!

The Young People's Devotional Service.

1 Corinthians 13:1-13: Love is the greatest thing in the world. In comparison to it mere verbal eloquence is an empty clang. Its power is greater than that which removes mere physical obstructions, although they be mountainous. Without love, charity is vain and martyrdom resolves itself into mere fanaticism. Love eliminates the personal element from the service. Pride and selfishness are impossible. It has superb staying qualities. It outlives prophecy, faith and hope. Love is the greatest thing in the world!

Daily Readings—"Rom. 8:1-11. The Cross—1 Cor. 1:18-24. Liberty—Gal. 5:1-6, 13, 14. Aspiration—Eph. 1:15-23. The new man—Col. 3:8-17. Our Inheritance—1 Pet. 1:15.

Hints for This Meeting.

Call on all the society to name Epistle books that have interested them in their Bible reading.

Have all these books named, mentioning the authorship, and to whom written.

It would also give interest to the meeting to have members give their favorite verse in each book.

Question Box.

1. How many Epistles.
2. What is the first?
3. How many Epistles did Paul write?

4. John?
5. Peter?
6. James?
7. Jude?

8. To whom was each Epistle written?
9. Go through the ones named, mentioning the authorship, and to whom written.

It would also give interest to the meeting to have members give their favorite verse in each book.

To read without reflecting is like eating without digesting.—Burke.

By reading a man does, as it were, antedate his life, and make himself contemporary with past ages.—Jeremy Collier.

Read great lives, and see how many Bible texts are quoted therein as helping them. What has helped them will help you.

A text is a seed; but shall it be left in the air—scarcely seen or heard—shall it be buried in the soil of memory and watered with the rain of obedience?

Bible texts are stepping stones over the rough of Despond.

The Passing of a Loyal Endeavorer. The tragic death of Miss Lillian E. Norman of Beaumont, which was caused by the sinking of the steamship State of California off the Alaskan coast, has removed from the Christian Endeavor work one of the most efficient district workers. Miss Norman was for one year secretary of the Houston district and was elected to the same position in Beaumont district two years ago when that district was organized. She was again re-elected for the coming year.

Miss Norman, with the Texas delegation to the International Christian Endeavor convention, left the state of California on July 1st. After the convention the party separated and Miss Norman continued her vacation trip along the Pacific coast, and it was while on this trip she met death in the sea disaster.

In Panhandle District. The Panhandle district of the Texas Christian Endeavor union are making plans for their fall and winter work that promises much for the cause of Christian Endeavor in their portion of the state. The district is composed of thirty-eight counties. The district has been subdivided into six parts of from five to nine counties each and an assistant superintendent has been appointed in each subdivision. These assistants have the power to organize new societies and prepare for rallies by the district superintendent. Miss Addie Whitcomb, of Amarillo.

The Panhandle district convention will be held in Canadian October 24-26.

A Tennessee Campaign.

The Tennessee Campaign. Under the leadership of John M. Gore and his efficient committee, started an increase campaign to run from January 1 to May 1, 1913. The results have been tabulated and are as follows: New societies organized, Young People's, twenty-six; Intermediate, six; Juniors, twelve. Total membership increase, 1,523. $205 was raised and the expense of the campaign was but $42.—C. E. World.

Girls' College Enrollment Grows.

Belton, Tex., Oct. 10.—The enrollment at Baylor college is daily increasing and every day brings in new pupils from different parts of the state and from points outside of Texas. To date the enrollment is 426 and a new dormitory is among the urgent present needs and will be provided as soon as possible. Three teachers have lately been added to the faculty. These are Prof. Hoskins-Strick of New York and Miss Alma E. Hillyard of Ohio in the department of piano, and an assistant in the department of modern languages has also been added.

Temple, Tex., Oct. 10.—As a courtesy toward the congregation of the First Methodist church of this city, which will formally dedicate its new $100,000 church building Sunday, October 12, the congregation of the First Baptist church will hold no services during the morning hour on that date, but will attend the services at the Methodist church in a body.

EXPERIENCE OF MOTHERHOOD

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact

THE SULZER TRIAL AND THE IMPEACHMENT POWER.

The New York World, which probably more than any other newspaper of that city deprecated Mr. Sulzer's attempts to have the impeachment trial dismissed on technical objections to the proceedings, and objections that were not even technical, discusses the power of impeachment in that connection. No other grant of power under American government is so absolute and at the same time so indefinite as the power of impeachment and to this fact are due most of the popular misapprehension and much of the criticism of the proceedings at Albany, it says.

"We borrowed the power of impeachment from Great Britain, where parliament is an omnipotent body politically," adds the World. "The most famous of all impeachments, that of Warren Hastings, began the year that the American constitutional convention assembled. The power was transferred to the constitution of the United States without definition or limitation, and it has so been transferred to the constitutions of all the States." It makes this summary:

All crimes which a private citizen can commit against the United States are defined by statute and are enumerated. In most States the common law has been erected into a body of statute law. But there is no guide except reason and precedent to the "high crimes and misdemeanors" for which a federal or State official may be impeached. The house of representatives or the assembly, as the case may be, is sole judge as to whether the offense charged warrants impeachment. The court of impeachment, whether it be the senate in Washington or the senate and the court of appeals in Albany, is the sole judge of the law and the facts. More than that, it is, in a sense, the creator of the law. And there is no appeal from its decision. Constitutions go no further than to say which branch of the legislative authority shall try the impeachment, who shall preside and what the maximum punishment shall be.

"In theory the power of impeachment is open to the gravest abuses of any power vested in our government. In practice it has been abused less, perhaps, than any other power. We cannot recall any conviction of impeachment in the whole history of the United States in which there was a considerable body of doubt as to the guilt of the accused. Nor do we recall a single verdict of guilty by a court of impeachment which has since been reversed by the verdict of history."

Can't Beat History.
The Athletics' defense was perfect.—The Associated Press.

But it need not have been. The record instance of a Giant downed has it that the Giant merely overreached himself and his opponent took advantage of this bad break. Mr. McGillicuddy's little Davidson army need only take a lesson today from I Samuel and wait until Mr. McGraw's Goliaths have hurled their last spear—the ultimate performance of Mr. C. Mathewson.

The 193rd report that foreigners in Mexico City are "uneasy" impels us to wonder for the 93rd time how foreigners can be uneasy so often without giving the correspondents opportunity to report that they are demoralized by worry.

A NOTABLE OCCASION FOR HONEST DEALING.

"Scores of speculators did business brazenly along Eighth avenue, selling tickets at many times their face value to prospective spectators who were willing to pay any price to see the battle."

That is in the report of the game Thursday in New York. The world's series is, of course, the acme of professional sport. Professionalism means the payment of money to participants in sport. But we cannot see that professionalism should also mean the victimizing of the public on a world-notable occasion of this character.

It is almost impossible to find an excuse for the operation of speculators in connection with the world's series. The rule of not more than two tickets sold to any person might work an hardship on honest persons who desired to save trouble and be seated in friends' company by having a group of seats bought by one of their party, but it would save the general public from more glaring and unjustifiable hardship. Or seats could be sold to clubs or other aggregations of persons of whose honesty the managements were assured.

We doubt if the speculators would employ enough persons to stand in line, under the two-ticket rule, to give them sufficient tickets to warrant such wholesale operations as they are practicing in this series. These tickets in the hands of speculators should have been sold to the line, from the window. It may not be truly said that speculation cannot be prevented or minimized in connection with so big an event. The Harvard athletic management used to put the speculators out of business at the games with Yale in the stadium—and these are attended by as large crowds as, or larger crowds than go to Shibe Park and the Polo Grounds; persons from all parts of the country go to Cambridge and New Haven for the Harvard-Yale football contests. Tickets purchased of speculators there are refused at the gates.

Owners and managers of the world's series teams could do likewise. The public should be given a square deal when it responds so richly for the management, in these games. It is professional baseball and a money-making enterprise, but it is also an event of universal interest and national concern. Under these circumstances, the rules of value received should be applied and every effort lent to prevent the public from having to submit to being fleeced in order to gratify its most natural eagerness.

False Hope Aroused.

Bulgaria's Dead in Battle.—New York Sun.
Please don't mislead us that way again. We were obliged to read at least two statistical paragraphs before perceiving that Bulgaria is yet, and that we must continue to resign ourselves to its presence among the nations. Try not to make a possessive construction read like a lazily-put declarative.

A POSSIBLE EFFECT OF THE NEW TARIFF.

Putting the question, "Will American goods improve?" by reason of the removal or lowering of duty on, and possible greater competition with, numerous classes of imports, the New York Sun recalls that "one of the of the familiar allegations of those who oppose a protective tariff is that manufacturers sheltered under its operation from foreign competition fail to improve their processes and products, and adhere to old methods, thus working an injustice to their customers and handicapping themselves in the struggle for trade outside the protected area." To this has been attributed the superiority of certain grades of imported goods over those of domestic make, adds the Sun, and the charge has been freely made that American enterprise is much overrated, our manufacturers being in fact far behind those of various other nations in the adoption of improved methods, insistence on high quality, and in other details of their business.

"If these contentions are based on facts, the Underwood tariff law should have a substantial effect in establishing them, for while its schedules do not eliminate protection, they must result in a keener competition. That this country does not afford climatic conditions for any manufacturing process of importance equal to those of other divisions of the world is incredible, and that its workers and their directors are less competent than others is likewise unbelievable. If they have neglected to compete heretofore in quality with others because the customs taxes made it possible for them to avoid that rivalry, the new law may compel them to another course. If it should turn out that American made goods are generally as good as those produced in other countries, as many persons hold, and that the frequent proclamation of their inferiority is actually due to unfair comparisons, the situation created by the Underwood law will make little change in their quality. But if mere laziness and lack of outside competition has held their makers to lower standards, the new schedules will reveal it and cause an improvement all along the line that will benefit everybody."

There is this further fact to be considered in arriving at a conclusion concerning the alleged superiority of many products foreign-made. There has for many years been a distinct demand abroad for several sorts of American products said, to be "inferior" to the same sorts produced in European factories and shops. This is true in the case of footwear and it is true in the case of motor cars. Figures of the rapid growth of the foreign market for merchandise made in the United States that is sometimes classed as inferior to the same variety of foreign merchandise, supply striking answer to the question of whether improvement is called for in this new order of trade. It may be said that the claim of superiority for some imports is chiefly a fact, and an attempted justification of, a rather snobbish "fad." But to the extent that a lower tariff will increase imports of high class products, it may be expected that happily there will be an improvement in like products that are "home-made," to meet this competition.

Indignation How Righteous?

Every disguise has been torn from his back, from the petticoat in which he hid, for so long, the armor of defiance in which he threatened and exposed a political leader whom we have found him suing for a merciful consideration of his misdeeds and offering the bribe of submission.—Judge Alton B. Parker's denunciation of Mr. Sulzer before the high court of impeachment.

What a "shade of sadness," what a "blush of shame" must have come over the faces of Mr. Murphy's friends in the assembly as they listened to the retelling of these grave misdeeds of the accused! To think that a governor of New York should have attempted even a fourthly defiance of the Big Boss! But did Mr. Justice Parker choose well that word, "bribe"? Can the poor people regard as a "bribe" a mutual-back-scratching bargain between a politician nominally, and a politician actually, running the government? Nor does one usually offer the boss a bribe; the boss does the bribing. It is related in certain obscure tales of our own day concerning the method of getting public favors—and the bribe is the bribe of office. But we can image the flurry of indignation that stirred this Murphy-Barnes aggregation when it heard how another politician, a refractory insurgent against the machine, had cut up in office to the belittling of those sacred laws of that gul-o-r-i-ous commonwealth! Verily, a most lamentable proceeding!

A RURAL SCHOOL TRIUMPH.

Mr. A. C. Monahan, rural school specialist of the federal bureau of education, writes of a most interesting and successful experiment in rural education. After twenty-one teachers had each refused in turn to teach the regular school at Irish Creek Hollow, in the mountains of Virginia, he relates, two county school teachers and a 12-year-old assistant invaded the district with a camping outfit and organized a summer school and an evening school that were both better attended than any school in past years had ever been. The experiment was so successful that other isolated communities in Virginia are to be banded in the same way. Instead of allowing these isolated districts to get along as best they may, state and county officers in Virginia are going to send to the mountains every summer the very best teachers they can obtain in order to provide the educational facilities that are needed.

The experiment is thus described: Irish Creek Hollow is in a mountain valley in Rockbridge county. It is sparsely settled and remote of access. The inhabitants are mountaineers of original stock who have intermarried as much as the law permits. They live in log cabins that are not even so good as the school building. There was a school building, but for several years there has been no school. No school teacher would accept the position. In 1911, built an additional school room. They carried with them tents to live in, provisions and cooking utensils. School was opened in the old school building, and the attendance exceeded all expectations. There were only eighty children enrolled in morning classes, and thirty to forty adults in afternoon and evening classes. The mountaineers were so appreciative of what was done for them that summer that they had an additional room built and two comfortable living rooms for the teachers.

Public spirit had developed to such an extent the following year that when one of the state inspectors and the secretary of the Virginia Co-operative Educational association visited the place in the summer of 1912 they were able to organize a school and civic league and an athletic association. Practically all the residents of the community enrolled in the league. An interesting feature of the work is that it reaches the adults as well as the children. A Saturday afternoon class in reading and writing for grown-up people was held among its members old men and women with grandchildren in the morning school.

Mr. Monahan says: "In inaugurating this work Virginia has undoubtedly taken a valuable step toward benefiting one of the most deserving and most neglected classes of our country. Some of our best American stock is in the mountains, and it should not be allowed to degenerate for lack of educational opportunities. The State department of Virginia is now making a survey of the mountain sections of Virginia and proposes to conduct many summer schools in the future like this one which has been held for three years in Irish Creek Hollow."

My own beauty secrets.—Mlle. Anna Held.
Is it possible you really mean "secrets," Mrs. Annie? Let us have them, then, all at once—for we seem to remember that your first and your latest "bits" on the stage were rather due to the fact that you could not make more than your eyes behave, and we would know wherein we erred in concluding that all the points of your beauty were to the playing public familiar.

There were those who took issue with us for taking issue with the estimate that the "strongest test" of the president's power with congress would come on the question of passing the currency bill. We demurred, urging that the particular measure before the senate was, in point of probable effect on the banking system and in currency issuance revision, neither a party pledge nor an administration promise at inauguration. It is now reported from Washington "that no effort will be made to make the currency bill a party measure in the senate unless it becomes impossible to get it through in another way." The statement is saturated with significance.

There were fifty thousand words of argument by opposing counsel, Thursday, in the Sulzer trial—or about one-fourth the number of words employed by the governor in expressing privately his opinion of these proceedings and the ring responsible for them.

Fate plays strange tricks, and among the strangest is the trick that occasionally couples the name of a little man with the name of a great man. In discussing the senatorial situation in Alabama it is necessary to mention Hobson as well as Underwood.

If the school teachers tire of marching through Georgia looking for their salaries, let them come to Texas, not blunder into Tennessee. Texas needs good teachers and pays them steadily, if not always worthily of their hire.

"W. A. Webb, general manager of the Katy, narrowly escaped a sojourn in Walnut Springs jail." "Narrowly" is right. By a lifetime, at least.

Mr. T. W. Lackie, chief roster-attache for the Giants (with present headquarters in Waco) again retired early.

Demaree was quite obscured by the Bush—but Mack's men found him and found him when the finding was good.

It was noticed that Mr. Merkle's second thought was quite dependable this year.

Score another point for C. M. in the record of "concealed wonders." The Brodingtonian Baker again rested on his telegraph pole.

One little game today for the better team will end the agony.

Again Mr. Marquard arrived too late.

Veritably a Schang high rooster.

Hamilton-Waco Trains (Hamilton Herald.)

Dear Cotton Belt—Once more we appeal to you to give us what we are entitled to and so much desired—double daily passenger service to Waco. You know how we love you, and that we would not ask more of you than you can consistently grant. But just think of it. You have for years been running two trains daily from Waco to Gatesville, and return, and how easy, and at what a very little additional expense you could continue the night train on to Hamilton. It would increase the passenger traffic on your road—bring more people to Hamilton and take more people out of Hamilton each day—and that's what you want. Now, do listen to us. We know the past, and that there have been little bits of unpleasantness between us, but then we are told that the course of these things will occur now and then. But we feel that you are not treating us right or doing yourself justice in stopping one of your trains at Gatesville. We need that night train, and thus help to keep peace in the family? We think you can. And remember how we helped you to get your consolidation bill through the legislature.

DAUGHTER OF FAMOUS EDITOR RECENTLY MARRIED.

MRS. WILLIAM GRAY ELSLIE

Although the marriage of Miss Constance Helen Pulitzer, youngest daughter of the late Mr. Joseph Pulitzer and of Mrs. Pulitzer, of New York City, to Mr. William Gray Elmslie, which took place lately at Lake Tahoe, Cal., was somewhat sudden, Mr. Ralph Pulitzer, brother of the bride, made it plain that the family was aware of the arrangements and heartily approved of the match. Mr. Elmslie is the son of an English judge and was graduated from Oxford. He was president of the Oxford Union and was a tutor for Mr. Herbert Pulitzer for several years, later establishing himself at Winnipeg. Since that time he has made frequent trips to New York as a guest of Mrs. Pulitzer. He and his bride are now at Colorado Springs.

SULZER'S FATE WITH JUDGES

when he sought the aid of Murphy and Barnes.

"Imagine yourself in his place," he said. "There are some things that a decent, many man cannot do to save himself, some things a man of even low ethical standards cannot allow to be done, even at a risk of losing a high position and being forever disqualified for political preferment and honors. Which would you do, run the risk of losing the empty honor of being governor—empty if held with dishonor—or lose the respect of every decent and honorable man in the whole United States by saving yourself at the expense of the honor and integrity of the one you are bound to love and protect?"

But it remained for Attorney Brackett, who preached occasionally in closing the case for the board of managers, to bring down on the head of the governor the most severe censure of the entire trial.

Taking for his cue a comparison made a few days ago by Senator Hinson between Governor Sulzer and Saul of Tarsus, he said:

"Can you imagine Saul telephoning to Gamaliel that he 'was the same old Saul' and 'Can't you make it more than $7,500?'"

By this he referred to a conversation Governor Sulzer had with Allan A. Ryan, a son of Thomas F. Ryan, a New York financier, in which it was testified Sulzer said "Tell your father I am the same old Bill."

The remark evoked smiles, and it was noted Judge Cullen placed his hand over his mouth as if to conceal his amusement. Attorney Brackett thundered on:

"Oh Saul! Oh, Saul! persecutor of the saints, but the greatest of the Apostles! What foolishness has been attempted through the years because of that sudden conversion of yours on the way to Damascus. There is many a man who tries to liken himself to Paul when the only likeness is to that of Saul. Saul saw light, but he respected it. He repented of his sins. Saul, having seen the light announced that from that moment he renounced the devil and all his works."

Edgar T. Brackett's Speech.
Senator Edgar T. Brackett closed the case for the board of impeachment managers with a vitriolic speech. He asserted that former State Senator Stephen J. Stillwell, now serving a term in Sing Sing as a barterer of his legislative vote and "influence," might have sat at the feet of Governor Sulzer and learned a lesson.

"And this is the Pharisee," he said, "who, pointing to the width of his phylactery in proof of his own virtue, demanded that Stillwell resign. Stillwell, who, if all charges against him were true and more, could still have sat at the feet of this man and learned crime, even as Saul sat at the feet of Gamaliel and learned all the wisdom of ancient Jews."

ing them to learn from the great apostle moderation of speech and ask them to come and see how under the strictest form of law, divesting themselves of every unworthy motive or thought, the representatives of a free people came together and gave judgment."

Mr. Brackett launched into a discussion of the evidence supporting the accusation on the fourth of the articles of the impeachment charging that Governor Sulzer sought to prevent testimony before the Frawley committee. The attorney held that the article was broad enough to include the alleged attempt of the governor to dissuade Henry Morgenthau from testifying in regard to his $1,000 campaign contribution.

"The damning character of the defendant's request is apparent at a glance," continued Mr. Brackett. "He wanted Mr. Morgenthau to perjure himself to save him, the defendant, from the result of the previous crime in not reporting the Morgenthau contribution made during the campaign and therefore brought himself precisely within the section of the code and precisely within the article."

"Do criminals find it necessary to solicit witnesses to tell the truth? It is not presumed that they will do so. What was there in the high character of Mr. Morgenthau that led the defendant to believe that he would testify to anything other than the truth? It was not the truth he was seeking to have adduced."

The alleged request of the governor to Danah W. Peck, superintendent of public works, that he deny his contribution of $500 under oath, Mr. Brackett placed in the same category.

"The testimony of Allan A. Ryan is still to be considered," he continued. "It stands here without contradiction of any kind. The defendant asked him to see Senator Root and have him in his interest to dissuade these charges, failing that, to see Mr. Murphy for the same purpose, saying he would do whatever was right if he could be freed from the impeachment proceedings."

"This is the black evidence convicting him under Article 4."

"And through and over it all runs the foulest of crimes connected with the administration of justice, subornation of perjury. God in heaven can more be required to convict this defendant and remove him from his high place and forever disqualify him from association with law abiding men."

"Knowing full well, appreciating to the utmost the disgrace and degradation that must come upon this most unhappy man by your verdict of guilty, still beg you not to think you will mitigate his punishment by a judgment of acquittal of the charges here proved. It will not be your action that will render him infamous for all the future. That future is already his before you speak."

"If this last and best attempt at self government, under which we have rested in security, under which the state has been leader of all of the sisterhood, if this shall fail at the point that we may not remove from high office men confessedly guilty of crime, then indeed are we of all men the most miserable."

ADOLPHUS BUSCH DIES IN EUROPE

ST. LOUIS BREWER PASSES AT THE AGE OF 72 IN PRUSSIA.

DEATH COMES UNEXPECTEDLY

Son Left Some Weeks Ago to Join Him, but Was Unaware of Serious Illness.

Langensack Wathach, Prussia, Oct. 10.—Adolphus Busch, the St. Louis brewer, died here today.

Suffered from Dropsy.
St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 10.—Adolphus Busch had been a sufferer from dropsy for seven years, but when his son, August A. Busch, left home a few weeks ago to join him at his castle on the Rhine he did not know that his father was dangerously ill.

In addition to his brewery interests in St. Louis, Mr. Busch was also a director in several local banks and a number of public utility corporations. He also was interested in breweries in San Antonio, Galveston and Fort Worth, Tex., and owned ice manufacturing plants in various parts of the country. He was head of the foreign department of the St. Louis World's fair.

Mr. Busch's philanthropies were numerous, one of his most recent being a gift of $150,000 to Harvard university for the establishment of a Germanic institute.

Though his home was in St. Louis, in recent years Mr. Busch spent but little time here.

Mr. Busch, who died at the age of 72, was the last of twenty-one children. He is survived by a widow and five daughters. Two sons, August A. Busch and Carl Busch, both of St. Louis, also survive. The body will be brought to St. Louis for burial.

Adolphus Busch was born at Mayence-on-the-Rhine, Germany, July 19, 1839. He was the son of Ulrich and Barbara B. Busch. He was educated at the gymnasium at Mayence at the Academy at Darmstadt, and at high schools at Brussels. He came to the United States in 1857. He married Lilly Anheuser of St. Louis on March 7, 1861. He served as a Union soldier for four years from 1861 under General Lyon.

Following the war he became associated with E. Anheuser in the brewing business and in 1865 became a partner in the firm of E. Anheuser & Busch, which later became the Anheuser-Busch Brewing association, of which he was president at the time of his death. He was also president of the South Side bank, the Manufacturers' Railway company, of Busch-Sulzer Bros., Diesel Engine company of St. Louis, the Geyer Ice company, of the Third National bank, of the Kinloch Telephone company, of the North American company, of the American Car and Foundry company, of Laclede Gas Light company of St. Louis, of the Union Electric Light and Power company, of the Equitable Surety company and of the American Bottle company. GAMBOA DIKE IS DYNAMITED

PRESIDENT PRESSES KEY AND FLASH TOUCHES EXPLOSIVES AT PANAMA.

ISTHMUS IS NOW NO MORE

Oceans Meet in Canal—Work of Dredging and Leveling Slides All That Remains Undone.

Washington, Oct. 10.—The momentary touch of a key by the president of the United States today sent a flash of electricity through a continuous telegraph and cable connection of 4,000 miles, setting off a gigantic blast of dynamite which exploded the Gamboa dike, the last of the great physical barriers to water communication in the canal. It was an extraordinary feat of telegraphy, especially planned for the occasion. At precisely 2 o'clock this afternoon President Wilson simply closed a telegraph key at the white house, sent the current over land and under sea and just a few seconds later came the message informing him that the explosion had been successful. While celebrations were numerous, there was no ceremony in Washington, it being the wish of Col. Goethals that the government await the actual opening of the canal. Besides the wreckage of the Gamboa dike, there are two earth slides to be cleared away before the boats can pass from ocean to ocean. The special circuit had been set up early in the day and the telegraph companies stationed men at every important point en route to guard the continuous connection and prevent mechanical interference. A few minutes before 2 o'clock Chief Operator E. W. Smithers at the white house talked to Galveston, Tex.

"Is the cable ready?" he inquired. "Yes," came the answer and soon Galveston answered that "Pa," the telegraph call of Panama City, was heard. By agreement the operator at the white house made four distinct dots at twenty seconds before 2 o'clock. This gave the signal for the engineers at Gamboa dike to be in readiness for the flash. They waited twenty seconds and on the dot, President Wilson closed the key which sent the current into the dynamite apparatus.

"There, it is all over," said the president. "Gamboa is busted." The president sent Col. Goethals, engineer of the canal, a brief message of congratulations and turned to them about him happy in the thrill of the moment, for it brought attention to the final step that will open to the world a short waterway between the Atlantic and the Pacific, the dream of centuries.

While the scene at the white house was a happy one, at John Hopkins hospital twenty miles away, there lay at the point of death the man who would have given most to witness the destruction of Gamboa dike. It was Lieutenant David Du R. Gaillard, the engineer who directed the excavation of Culebra cut, one end of which was blocked by the Gamboa dike. Col. Gaillard is suffering from a general breakdown as a result of his long labors in the canal zone.

Engineers now are looking forward to the final dredging of the great ditch with the hope that lighter draft vessels used by the diggers will be able to pass through the entire canal in a few weeks.

Scenes at Panama. Panama, Oct. 10.—The Gamboa dike, the last artificial barrier to actual communication between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by way of the Panama canal, was rent in twain by the hand of President Woodrow Wilson at 2:02 o'clock this afternoon. Between three and four thousand persons from Panama and Colon cities and various sections of the canal journeyed to the scene to witness the demolition of the barrier which while the event of demolishing the dike was spectacular to a degree and successful in its every detail, some disappointment was evinced because the entire dike was not destroyed. The demolition today was not carried out because of the fear that the concussion might damage the railroad trestle crossing the cut near San Miguel locks. The two remaining sections will be dynamited at some future date. The spectators lined the banks of the cut, outside the zone of danger, occupying every available vantage point. As the hour approached when President Wilson would press the button to explode the numerous charges of dynamite, the dike a hush of expectancy fell over the multitude. When the minute hand of watches passed the hour of 2 o'clock the suspense became still greater and the ensuing minutes seemed like as many hours. Then suddenly came the muffled roar of the discharge of 1,600 pounds of dynamite which sent a shower of water, mud and rock high into the air, spreading out as it went up with the whole heavily veiled in clouds of smoke. The explosion of the dike, 60 feet wide, was lifted bodily from its bed and its component parts scattered.

As water began to pour through the rent made by the explosion whistles blew off in blast the water in the cut was exactly six feet below the level of Lake Gatun and the inflow of water afterward was in such volume that the cut was filled to lake level within an hour and a half.

There was only one accident, a woman spectator was struck on the head by a rock which was dislodged by others from the hillside where she was watching the explosion. Her injury is not serious. All the heads of the canal departments were present for the epoch making event as also were all the members of the cabinet of President Porras, himself unable to be present.

It was Colonel Goethals' day and the chairman of the Panama Canal Commission was the recipient of a shower of congratulations. Colonel Goethals took his stand near the dike in an unprotected position. There he was when the mass of earth and water shot skyward.

Philippe Buncu Varilla, who was engineer in the Panama Canal company when the French were trying to dig the great ditch, was an interested spectator. He appeared as enthusiastic as any. He was one of the few present who saw the beginning of the great work of digging the canal, 30 years ago.

YUAN SHAI KAI IS MADE PRESIDENT

CEREMONY OF INAUGURATION IS SURROUNDED WITH EASTERN BRILLIANCE.

PLOT MADE TO ASSASSINATE

Chief of Mounted Police Is Arrested and Confesses to Being Bribed by Rebels.

Peking, Oct. 10.—Yuan Shai Kai was today inducted into office as first president of the Chinese republic. The ceremony of inauguration was surrounded with eastern brilliance, attended by throngs of distinguished Chinese and foreign officials, diplomats and military officials and took place in the interior of the Tai Ho Palace in which many of the Ming and Ching emperors have been crowned. The choice of the place of inauguration was a further encroachment on the sacred precincts of the emperor within the forbidden city. The southern half of this extensive enclosure was opened to the guests who traversed hall after hall and court after court toward the present residence of the little dethroned emperor. The ceremony was enacted in the vast building called the Tai Ho Tien or hall of supreme peace which sits high up triple a terrace of marble and is decorated everywhere with dragons and imperial gold. It was here that the emperor formally received new year's wishes from the Manchus and Suzerain princes.

The Chinese officials present as well as priests of the various religions wore garments of colored silks of many hues but the members of the Chinese parliament were dressed in western frock coats and high hats, which they had adopted as their official costume. Many of the natives of Turkestan, Tibet and Mongolia and also some of the Chinese and Manchus appeared in their native garb.

Foreigners Carried in Chairs. The chiefs of the foreign legations were carried to their ceremony in chairs.

Yuan Shai Kai wore a blue military uniform. He read his declarations, which was tantamount to taking the oath of office, from the dragon dais of the emperor over which republican flags have been draped. He admitted his preference for conservative rather than radical methods. He asserted his intention of introducing reforms, emphasized the need for capital and dwelt upon the necessity for education, technical address especially. After the delivery of the inaugural address, the president, surrounded by the members of the foreign legations, reviewed 10,000 troops, equipped in modern uniforms, from the front of a pagoda in the forbidden city.

Extensive precautions, both police and military, had been taken for several days as it was feared that Chinese who had cut off their cues might obtain access to the ceremony disguised as Japanese. It was not possible for the authorities to limit the number of invitations to the Japanese legation without doing the same in other cases and for this reason it was decided to reduce the number all around. In spite of these precautions, it was found that the rebels had succeeded in tainting the loyalty of Chen, chief of the Peking mounted police. This was discovered in time and he was arrested. He confessed that he had been bribed to assassinate the president.

Suspicion was aroused by Chen's persistent efforts to secure a position during the ceremony near the president's box. A number of bombs were found in Chen's residence.

The lake was a native canoe manned by two American sailors. Shortly afterward three launches successfully negotiated the rapid water over the gap.

If the water covering the rent is deep enough a dredge will be passed through into the cut next Monday.

The Culebra dike, that huge moving mass of earth and rock covering acres in extent is now the only barrier in the way of the passage of a vessel from ocean to ocean. A trench has been dug around this barrier and tonight or tomorrow the section of the cut south of this point will begin to fill and it is planned to pass some of the Pacific dredges through the Pacific locks Monday as the water in the Miraflores lake has risen sufficiently to permit navigation.

Colonel Goethals has not gone on record as to when the first boat will pass through the entire canal, as such passage depends wholly upon the expedience with which the slide can be removed.

Oceans Are United.

The Atlantic and Pacific oceans were not actually united today when the Gamboa dike was destroyed. The waters of Gatun lake were allowed to flow into Culebra cut, as lake and cut are, at the normal surface of the water, 85 feet above the level of the sea. The destruction of the Gamboa dike, however, removes the last obstacle to the navigation of the greater part of the canal by light draft vessels and opens up connection between the great Gatun lake, which already is practically ready to discharge vessels into the Atlantic through Gamboa locks and the Pacific division. The waters of the lake rushing through the broken dike at Culebra cut until they reach the locks at Pedro Miguel, which mark the beginning of the descent from the top level of the canal to the Pacific.

The first craft to enter will be the steam dredges whose work is to clear and open the channels.

The presence of small craft in portions of the canal, however, does not as yet mean ocean-to-ocean navigation. This will first be possible when each link in the canal has a sufficient depth of water and all the locks are navigable. In the intermediate stage, navigation may be effected in local lengths of the canal and to some degree may be extended along the whole waterway.

Today's event served to demonstrate the nearness of the canal to the operating stage. It also formally brought to a close the work of the central division in the cut, for the dredging operations which are to succeed the steam shovel work, will be under a different organization.

Dike Built in 1908. Gamboa dike was built in 1908 to hold the Chagres river in check during its turbulent periods and to prevent its waters from entering the nine-mile section of Culebra cut and delaying the work of steam shovels.

It was important solely for its location. Twenty miles to the north, the mighty Gatun dam which, to the uninitiated, appears to be nothing more than a mountain range stretched across the valley, keeps the waters of Gatun from escaping to the sea. These two barriers, one the greatest man-made dams in history and the other a low ridge of earth and rock, which would ordinarily pass unnoticed, would keep in check the rising water of Gatun lake. Today there is only one, and the waters of the lake now extend from Pedro Miguel lock on the south to Gatun locks on the north, a distance of about 23 miles, approximately two-thirds of the canal's length. Drills were at work on the dike nearly the entire month of September and it was

Neil O'Brien's Annual Visit.
Neil O'Brien and his "Great American Minstrels" have a large and laughing following that watches for announcements of Neil's coming and knows he's in town some hours before the street parade. The following was in the Auditorium last night, numerous and because it saw a better minstrel show than Neil's last production, heard still brighter circle "exchanges," more tuneful voices and music more lively or sweeter. It was a pleasant following and it will call on the O'Brien aggregation next time. Neil O'Brien and several of his comedians are genuinely funny "coons" who can talk coon talk of a sort that would permit them to dispense with the paint if the audience closed its eyes. It is worth the price to hear Neil give his recipe for onion—or some other kind—soup; telling that his shadow is the only thing that an onion is afraid of and goat's milk can't be used because the rivalry between goat and onion is too keen. His monologues and the dialogues he shares as, as ever, a lasting remedy for a serious view of life. He has no superior on the minstrel stage as a story teller.

The first—the minstrel—part of the entertainment is wholly pleasing. Messrs. Ditzel, Faust, Blake, Ross, Baradl, Mazier, Fontaine and Master George Hagen are very much "there" in everything from sentimental songs through banjo rag to grand opera outraged as to the words. The jokes are sprightly and reasonably fresh. The vaudeville, especially "Parcels Post," a political-journal skit, written and headed by Mr. O'Brien, gave the audience never a dull moment—there was farce, there was harmony and brisk dancing. As long as the "G. A. M." of Mr. O'Brien keep the standard of this season's production they will get, and deserve, a general and hearty patronage.

MILLER BROS. SHOW.

Coming of 101 Ranch is Important Amusement Feature.

While, according to reports, the 101 Ranch Wild West Show, which will be in Waco next Thursday, October 16, has grown considerably since its last visit to this city, it is still credited with retaining the genuine western flavor.

Edward Arlington, who is associated with the Miller Brothers, in the ownership of this show, and who was recently in the city, said, in speaking of the exhibition:

"The best evidence of the genuineness of the 101 Ranch show is the fact that many of its performances are given in communities that are familiar with cowboys and Indians, and where any attempt to deceive in regard to character of the wild west people would be detected. At Reno, where the show exhibited last season, there were nearly seven hundred Indians in the audience. At Killisnoe, Mont., formerly noted for its annual round-up, and still a center of the cattle industry, a large part of the immense audience was composed of cowboys and ranchmen. In Canada, last season, we played to many Alaskan and Saskatchewan audiences where cowboys, Indians and soldiers constituted an important part of the crowd, and in many instances the performance was praised from the standpoint of its realism. Down east, where the cowboy, and Indian are novelties, it is natural that the show should attract attention, but to win and hold the interest of the genuine westerner by a wild west exhibition is surely a tribute to its worth."

"Since the last visit of the show to Waco there have been some changes along the line of increased magnitude, but the show is still a wild west exhibition pure and simple. There are no circus features and the performance is confined exclusively to features illustrating life on the ranch and prairie."

"Auto polo is the season's much discussed thriller."

VINDICATED, HE STRIKES BACK

CLEMENT NOW SUES WACO M. & E. COMPANY, ASKING $50,000.

ALLEGES INJURY TO REPUTATION

Sets Forth That His Business Suffered by Reason of His Prosecution on Charges.

B. E. Clement, head of the Clement Grain company, yesterday, through his attorneys, filed suit in the Nineteenth District court against the Waco Mill and Elevator company and named T. P. Duncan, secretary and manager of the company, as a party to the proceedings. Actual damages in the sum of $25,000 and punitive and exemplary damages in a like sum are asked by Clement.

Sequel to Prosecution.

The suit is an anti-climax to the filing of four criminal charges against Clement in county court. The cases were disposed of a week ago. Clement being dismissed. In three complaints it was alleged that he knowingly and willfully sold and offered for sale feed made from cereals in sacks weighing less than the standard weight prescribed by law. It was charged that he sold sacks weighing 95 pounds and represented them to weigh 100 pounds. The fourth alleged he had adulterated feedstuff.

Copy of Letter as an Exhibit.

The petition further alleges that the Waco Mill and Elevator company and its manager, T. P. Duncan, wrote a letter to the state feed control at College Station, in which was stated that if a representative was sent to Waco that company would inform such representative the name of a competitor who had sold 100 bags of corn chow wherein the sacks were short three and one-half pounds each. A copy of this letter is included in the petition. The petition further says that on or about May 23, 1913, W. L. Boyett, state feed inspector, came to Waco and filed criminal proceedings against Clement.

Acquitted in Court.

He further represents that he was found not guilty of the charges, that there was no probable cause for defendants to believe he was guilty as charged, and that as a result of the defendant's uttering and issuing and publishing said libel and instigating said criminal proceedings, he has suffered in his reputation and his business.

The concerns are competitors in the Waco field in the feed business.

Harry Gillett, self-confessed embezzler of funds from his employer, Charles Slaughter, will not have to serve a term at the Gatesville reformatory. Acting on recommendation of County Probation Officer E. E. Ingram, County Judge George N. Denton has pardoned Gillett under the care of that officer. Gillett pleaded guilty to embezzling $165 from his employer. His case came within the juvenile court. Sentence was withheld.

"All-Night-Long" Enjoined.

The second injunction restraining a negro club from operating on the ground that the sale of liquor was the principal object of the club was filed by the county attorney's office yesterday. The club enjoined is the St. Charles Social club. It is also known as the "All-Night-Long Club," in police circles. The first move against the negro social club came Wednesday when Assistant County Attorney D. C. Woods filed an injunction against the Central City Fraternal club, closing its doors. At that time Mr. Woods intimated that a like action would be taken against another negro organization. Yesterday this action came. The injunction is similar to the first, alleging that the club is maintained not as a social club, but for the main purpose of selling intoxicating liquors. Richard Stewart is named as head of the organization. Judge Tom L. McCullough granted the injunction.

This action closes temporarily at least, two of the largest and most widely known negro clubs of the city.

Charged With Cotton Theft.

Alleging that they stole 1,500 pounds of seed cotton and attempted to make away with it, complaints were filed in district court yesterday against Cal Shaw, Willis Lang, Chris Dorsett and Arthur Scott, negroes. The complaint charges theft over $50. The cotton is valued at approximately $75. It is alleged that the first two named men borrowed a wagon from Dorsett, loaded the cotton into the wagon. When the wagon stuck in the mud, it is claimed Scott helped to pull it out. The cotton is said to have been taken from Willie Wood, a negro renter on C. K. Duriam's farm.

Examining trial will probably be given the men today.

The complaint charges theft over $50. The cotton is valued at approximately $75. It is alleged that the first two named men borrowed a wagon from Dorsett, loaded the cotton into the wagon. When the wagon stuck in the mud, it is claimed Scott helped to pull it out. The cotton is said to have been taken from Willie Wood, a negro renter on C. K. Duriam's farm.

Examining trial will probably be given the men today.

CHANGES SYSTEM OF ELECTION

State Federation of Labor Finds It is Necessary to Amend Its Constitution.

As a result of a referendum vote, the constitution of the Texas State Federation of Labor will be changed so that the system of election will be different in the future.

At the last state convention of the Texas federation, it was decided to refer to a referendum vote of all the union's membership in the state federation, whether the change should be made to elect by ballot by an election to be held all over the state the officers of the federation or whether the officers should be elected as heretofore by the state convention.

Yesterday Z. M. Duckworth of Dallas, J. P. Walsh of Galveston and Miss Elsie Kugler of Waco, a committee to canvass the returns of the referendum, met in Waco and totaled the vote. The result of the canvass was that the vote in favor of the change in the constitution was 2,306 and the vote against the change was 662.

$12,000 FOR MANUAL TRAINING

State Board of Education Apportions Money Appropriated by Last Legislature.

Austin, Oct. 10.—The state board of education met today and apportioned $12,000 for the establishment of branches of manual training in the public schools. There is a balance of $7,000 remaining in the fund appropriated by the recent legislature.

Owing to the fact that more than $125,000 is owed at this time the board did not purchase any new bonds, but paid the $20,000 remaining in the bond fund on those already purchased.

The Royal Month and the Royal Disease.

Sudden changes of weather are especially trying, and probably to none more so than to the scrofulous and consumptive. The progress of scrofula during a normal October is commonly great. We never think of scrofula—its bunches, cutaneous eruptions, and wasting of the body substance—without thinking of the great good man suffers from it have derived from Hood's Sarsaparilla, whose radical and permanent cures of this one disease are enough to make it the most famous medicine in the world. There is probably not a city or town where Hood's Sarsaparilla has not proved its merit in more homes than one, in arresting and completely eradicating scrofula, which is almost as serious and as much to be feared as its near relative—consumption.

TEST LOCAL OPTION POOL LAW

Willbarger Man and Attorneys Maintain is Unconstitutional—Initiative and Referendum Doesn't Apply.

Austin, Oct. 10.—A test case of the constitutionality of local option pool hall bill has been filed in the court of criminal appeals. The case was submitted by Lightfoot, Brady and Robertson of this city and is styled the Francis case from Willbarger county.

The attorneys for Francis maintain that the constitution does not provide for the voting out of pool halls as it does for the voting out of liquor saloons, etc. The argument is advanced that the initiative and referendum does not become constitutional except in cases expressly provided in the constitution.

TEXAS RAILROADS IN APPEAL

Department of Justice Will File Briefs at Washington on Rate Case.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The department of justice will file in the supreme court tomorrow its brief in the appeal of Texas railroads from the decision of the commerce court in the Shreveport, La., rate case. The case raises the question of the power of the Interstate Commerce commission to deal with discriminations which result from a relation between interstate rates and those entirely within a state. This point was raised in the Minnesota rate case decided by the supreme court, but was not passed upon by that tribunal.

University Outwits Opponents and Wins 27 to 6—Game Is Sensational. Visitors Score on Technicality.

Austin, Tex., Oct. 10.—Texas university defeated Austin college 27 to 6 in a game full of sensational plays on Clark field this afternoon. Texas won the game by consistent use of the forward pass and kicking. Austin college was slightly lighter than the Longhorns and was unable to make any headway against the heavy Texas line. Austin's one touchdown was made by blocking a kick from behind the Texas line. Texas had been penalized for being off side. Brown blocked the kick behind the line and Lowe fell on it, technically making a touchdown for Austin. Tuck failed to kick goal.

READY FOR THE FRAY

BAYLOR MEN IN PINK OF CONDITION FOR TODAY'S GAME.

Polytechnic Football Warriors Said to Be More Formidable Than Ever This Season.

Baylor's gridiron warriors, groomed for a battle royal on Carroll field at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, are in the pink of condition, so far as their physical qualities are concerned, and while they are anticipating the sternest football conflict they have yet experienced in their dealings with the Polytechnic squad from Fort Worth, they expect to win.

A visit to the field yesterday afternoon evinced the fact that the fellows are imbued with lots of spirit and vim, equally as essential in contests of this character as a knowledge of manipulating the pickin'. They are anxious to win, and having the full support of the student body behind them they will go into today's contest with more spirit than they have exhibited this season. The several well practices this week by the student body out on the field, have had a wonderful tonic effect on the team and have aroused the fighting spirit to a pitch it has not known before.

Reporters Come in Special. Supported by the Poly, they will be well matched by that for Poly, for a special car of reporters will come to Waco with the team and the Hill Toppers of Fort Worth are not bashful in making themselves heard when a team is to be booted. They are a loyal bunch, and have a good team to boost. This is evidenced by the fact that the Methodists held the University of Texas to a 14 to 7 score last Saturday and then played their Southwestern brethren to a tie-off last Monday. The Poly eleven is to be seriously reckoned with this year and today's game promises to be one of the best matched that will be seen in Waco this season.

Haine has given his men considerable coaching this week on defensive work, seeking to strengthen the line and he believes he has succeeded. Emphasis has been placed on kicking this week, too, and the success with which the fellows have been putting their kicks during their scrimmages this week indicates that they may add a few points to their score this afternoon through this method.

Field in Good Condition. The Baylor squad has been considerably enlarged this week and more good men are available for the sideline than has been the case heretofore.

Carroll field is also in much better shape than it has been heretofore, and, barring rain today, it promises to be in excellent condition. On the occasion of the two practice games that have been played already this season, the field has been deep in mud and water, putting the team at considerable disadvantage and preventing the men from showing the whole stuff that they are capable of. This feature of the game alone will be a help with considerable interest today.

Due to the fact that the Poly players will want to catch the 7 o'clock train back home, today's game will be called at 3:30 o'clock.

AGGIES WIN FIRST GAME

Defeat Trinity 7 to 0—A. & M. Shows Decided Weakness—Forward Pass Gets Touchdown.

College Station, Tex., Oct. 10.—In the first game of the intercollegiate season here this afternoon, the Agricultural and Mechanical college defeated the Trinity university team by the score of 7 to 0. The Aggies failed to show class and were outplayed in every quarter with the exception of the third, when A. & M. scored on forward passes. The score came in the first two minutes of the third quarter. Beasley made a forward pass to Hohn for 35 yards and then another for 15 yards to a touchdown to Quarterback Garrity. Hohn kicked an easy goal. Frequently and was successful with the play. A. & M. also tried the pass frequently, but was unable to get away with it often.

This afternoon's game showed conclusively that if the Aggies are to accomplish anything in football this season that miraculous improvement must be made. A. & M.'s next game is with Austin college next Friday.

Line-up: Position. A. & M. Simpson, C. Powell, Bridges, Williams, R. G. Miller, Moore, Bunch, L. G. True, Fleming, R. T. Braumiller, McKee, L. T. Delouche, Quate, R. E. Caldwell, Washam, Beal, L. E. Merkle Scores the Athletics With a Home Run Drive

Although limping badly, Fred Merkle, first baseman, threw a scare into Connie Mack's camp yesterday by lacing out a home run drive with two on bases, changing a one-sided affair into an exciting contest. This makes the third home run made during this world series and places Merkle among the immortals of world's series fame.

MACKMEN DEFEAT NEW YORK

The game was played under the most favorable conditions of the series to date, the sun frequently shining through rifts of clouds and upon a field comparatively dry and fast. At least 5,000 spectators watched the playing from the house tops near the park. The fans removed their seats and the backgrounds were relieved by patches of white heretofore absent.

Players Get $135,163.89. According to the unofficial figures there will be distributed among the players $135,163.89. The winners will receive 60 per cent of this total, the losers 40 per cent. The National commission announced that twenty-five players on each team were eligible to play in the series, therefore each man on the winning side will receive $2,244.56, each member of the losing team $1,212.

The attendance today was 20,568 and the receipts were $9,644. Of this the National commission's share was $4,964.50; the players' share $2,689.30, and each club $3,985.10. The total figures for the four days are as follows: Attendance 114,115; receipts $250,302.50; National commission $2,939.25; players $135,163.89; each club $45,054.63.

Play by Play. Snodgrass limped slightly as he walked to the plate to open the game. Bender, who had warmed up well, lost no time in getting into action and served up a strike which Snodgrass let go by. The centerfielder tried to catch two hits, but Snodgrass and Bender had two hits each. Then Snodgrass raised a high fly to center. Baker gathered in without effort. Captain Larry Doyle was given a hand by his New York friends as he came to the plate and sent up a long high fly to Strunk. Fletcher caught the ball, grounding to Barry who threw him out at first.

Demaree, in spite of the fact that he was starting in to pitch an important game in a world's series, did not appear nervous. His first offering to Eddie Murphy, a hard man who cut the plate in the middle. He was cheered by the big New York contingent. Murphy lifted the next pitch to deep right center and when Snodgrass made a fine catch, despite his limp, Oldring, who has hit safely the first time up in all present world's series games, cut loose again and sent a terrific drive down the right field foul line for three bases. It looked like Snodgrass was in the Athletics, with their heavy artillery coming up, and the New York infield gathered about the youthful pitcher and encouraged him. Eddie Collins caught the ball and faced Demaree with a confident air. After catching a ball and fouling off the second pitch, Snodgrass fouled off a grounder to the middle bag, but Collins easily slid into the base for second, however, as Baker raised a high foul fly to Shafer. Demaree was given a vigorous hand-clapping by the Giants' supporters.

Burns opened the second inning for the Athletics by flying out to Murphy. Shafer felt a victim to strikes. Snodgrass disputed with Umpire Egan on some balls and strikes, but reached first base when Bender hit him on the arm. Larry McLean hit a slashing single to right, on which Murray sprang to the bat. McLean suddenly the New York rooters by sending up a high foul, which McLean caught at the New York players' bench, retiring the side.

Snodgrass' Injury Gives Trouble. In Philadelphia's half of the second, Snodgrass, owing to his "charley horse," could not reach McLean's Texas leaguer and the runner was safe at first. Strunk sacrificed Demaree to Merkle, advancing McLean to second.

Baseball Injury Gives Trouble.

The Athletics' big inning came next. McLean grounded out, Doyle to Merkle. Strunk crashed a hit down to Herzog, who could not get the ball in time to catch the centerfielder. Strunk grounded to Merkle. Collins lifted a fly to Burns and Baker went out, Doyle to Merkle. The Giants were quickly retired in the first half of the fourth inning. Fletcher protested against Egan's calling of a strike and he and the umpire had an argument for a moment, the New York shortstop showing his displeasure by stepping on the plate and turning his back to Egan as the latter was talking to him. Fletcher finally fled out to Collins. Burns went out on a high fly to Baker and Shafer struck out for the second time on one of Bender's swift inshoots.

After Merkle had dropped Barry's high foul fly the Philadelphia shortstop shot a solid drive down the left field line for two bases, on which McLean scored. Barry complained to the umpire that Merkle interfered with him in rounding first base, but the arbitrators paid no attention to it. Schang drew a base on balls, but the two runners were left on the bases when Bender sent a high fly to Burns and Murphy lifted one to Snodgrass.

Demaree was warmly welcomed by the fans as he stepped to the plate and showed his confidence by making a hard swing at the ball. He connected with it with considerable force and sent a long fly to Murphy, who had to do a little sprinting to get it. Despite his limp, Snodgrass attempted to bunt safely, but was easily out at first. Bender to McLean. Doyle raised a fly to Strunk, ending New York's third inning.

Manager McGraw then took Snodgrass out of the game, sending Shafer to centerfield and Herzog to third base. Oldring was an easy out on his grounder. Bender to Merkle. Collins lifted a fly to Burns and Baker went out, Doyle to Merkle.

The Giants were quickly retired in the first half of the fourth inning. Fletcher protested against Egan's calling of a strike and he and the umpire had an argument for a moment, the New York shortstop showing his displeasure by stepping on the plate and turning his back to Egan as the latter was talking to him. threw him out at first. Collins fled to Fletcher. Burns opened New York's big seventh with a single. Bender batting down the ball hit long and wide, out to field. Shafer sent up a high fly to Collins. Murray shot a single into left field and Burns was held on second. With three balls and two strikes on him, Wilson missed the ball strike and was out, both Burns and Murray advancing. Schang threw to third, but Baker couldn't hold the throw with Burns coming into the bag feet first. Then came Merkle's home run, scoring Burns and Murray ahead of him. The ball traveled fast to left center, struck the ground several feet in front of the center field bleachers and bounded into the stand. New York fans cheered frantically as they realized that their team had cut the Athletics' lead in half. Marquard ended the inning by hitting a weak grounder to Bender, who threw him out.

The Athletics swung their bats hard against Marquard's pitching in their half of the seventh, but they were out in order. Baker fled to Herzog. McLean lifted a foul fly which Herzog also gathered in and Doyle threw out Strunk at first.

There was much excitement as the top of New York's batting came up in the eighth. Herzog opened with a single to left and was forced at second when Collins grabbed Doyle's grounder and threw to Barry. Fletcher forced Doyle at second, Bender to Barry, the Indian making a wide throw which the shortstop just managed to spear. Burns hit to the extreme left field corner of the grounds for two bases and Fletcher reached home with the tying run, but all he could do was to hit a grounder to Collins and was tossed out at first.

Marquard Steadies. Realizing that the Giants were dangerously near the American League crown again went to Marquard viciously, but the left hander held them safe. Barry sent out a long fly to Murray. Schang waited and was given a base on balls and much cheering. Bender fled to Murray and there were grounds in the stand when Murray hit straight to Doyle, who stepped over to second, forcing out Schang.

Crandall, New York's hard hitting pitcher, went in to bat for Wilson, in New York's ninth and grounds out. Collins to McLean. Merkle then came up and Bender took his time pitching to him. Merkle made a mighty effort to get in a long hit, but Murphy was under his fly for an out in right field. Eddie Grant was sent in to bat for Marquard. He took the limit in balls and strikes and then fouled out to Schang, who caught the ball behind the plate half way to the grand stand and the game was over.

Running Down Ticket Leak.

New York, Oct. 10.—Richard J. Donovan, a ticket seller at the Polo grounds, was held in $500 bail for trial today after his arraignment on a charge of disposing of a hundred unreserved world's series tickets to speculators. Technically he is charged with violating state anti-tipping law in that it is alleged that he received $100.

Harry Hempstead, secretary of the New York Nationals, was the complainant. "I think that in the person of Donovan," he said, "we have found the leak by which tickets of admission to the world's series game got into the hands of speculators. I am sure the public will exonerate the New York club of this when they learn the facts."

Cotton.

New York, Oct. 10.—The cotton market was less active today and fluctuations were irregular enough to suggest that trading was chiefly in the way of evening up commitments over the approaching holidays. After a break of nearly a cent a pound, a good part of today's buying was supposed to be profit taking by recent sellers. Some bull support was also encouraged by reports of a better demand from southern spinners, apprehensions of unfavorable weather in the southwest and a bullish view of the week-end figures, but rallies were not maintained and the close was barely steady, net unchanged to 2 points lower and renewed liquidation or local pressure and unfavorable labor reports from Manchester.

Indifferent Liverpool with an unfavorable weather report from the eastern belt caused a renewal of yesterday's selling movement during the early trading and after opening at a decline of 2 to 3 points active months sold about 5 to 10 points net lower.

October and December contracts made new low ground today, the movement but a fair demand developed around 12.90 for January and the market steadied up during the middle of the session. The possibility that the lower temperatures predicted for the southwest might turn to a threat of frost over Sunday and unfavorable private crop reports from Texas helped the rally and prices during the middle of the afternoon ruled about 10 to 15 points net lower, with active months selling at 12.12 or 22 points above the low level of the morning. Buying was mostly in small lots, however, with little or no indication of aggressive bull support and as soon as demand slackened prices turned easier under realizing by early buyers for a turn or renewed pressure encouraged by reports that a lockout in the Lancashire mills on October 25 was considered more likely.

New Orleans, Oct. 10.—The market in New Orleans opened at a decline and closed at a decline today, but around the middle of the session the bulls were in control and bought enough to put prices steady. In the afternoon longs scalped their profits and reports of their selling told. Weather conditions again were favorable and helped the bear side to some extent, but there always was the fear of early frosts, which the cold wave in the northwest increased. Crop reports, especially from Texas, were very unfavorable and the crop of that state under four million bales.

The market opened steady at a decline of 1 to 6 points, favorable cables and a good weather map. After the opening prices stood at a net loss of 6 to 8 points but there was less cotton sold than usual from liquidating longs, and shorts were not as willing as they have been of late to increase their lines. Around the middle of the morning the reports from Texas and also the report that mills were heavy buyers of hedges in the contract market against their requirements of actual cotton, brought in much outside buying orders. Later the very large mill takings for the week still further increased buying and the market gradually worked upwards to an advance of 14 to 16 points over yesterday's close.

In the afternoon buyers of the morning turned sellers to realize and the sale price was lost, the market closing 1 to 3 points under yesterday's close.

Mill takings for the week excited much discussion. They were put by Hester at 302,000 bales against 198,000 this week last year and 289,000 this week two years ago.

Grain.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Falling off in receipts at primary terminals gave considerable buoyancy today to wheat. Largely in consequence the market closed steady at a net advance of 1/4 to 1/2c. Corn showed a gain of 1/4 to 1/2c. Last night and out a setback of a shade. In provisions the outcome ranged from unchanged figures to a decline of 1/4 to 1/2c.

Wheat values began to harden after a selling drive early had demonstrated that the market possessed good support. Shorts were under on account of the disappointments of the government estimate and there was a bullish help in the fact that the arrival here of wheat from the northwest were much larger than a year ago. Sentiment later against the bears increased rapidly when it was found that receipts in other districts had diminished almost as much as the shrinkage in the spring crop belt.

Sales of two cargoes of Argentine corn in Galveston emphasized feeling in that cereal. An early call on corn was expected in the southwest. Cots weakness and heavy yield shown by the government estimate. The market, however, made a complete recovery in sympathy with corn.

Late declines in prices for hogs took away benefits that the provisions market had received earlier owing to temporary strength at the yards.

WAITING ANXIOUSLY ON BARRON

Police Look for Appointment of the Cotton Palace Squad Commander.

While arrangements for policing the exposition grounds during the forthcoming Cotton Palace season have yet to be completed by Chief of Police Hollis Barron, it is practically assured that an increase will be made in the show grounds detail proportionate with the larger crowd of visitors expected this year.

The Cotton Palace squad has been under the supervision of Assistant Chief Bob Buchanan for the last two seasons and it is expected that he will be again offered the position. It is known that a representative of the Cotton Palace and another from the business men have approached Mayor Mackey with a request and he is expected to announce his choice.

Barron Makes the Choice.

The actual appointment rests with Chief Barron, who picked Buchanan to direct the Cotton Palace squad in preceding years, but it is customary for the police chief to consult with the mayor and the police commissioner before making the appointment or announcing his choice. His appointment is subject to the approval of Commissioner Dollins and Mayor Mackey. The position is regarded as a post of honor and is coveted by the officers of the force.

Mayor Not Yet Advised.

Mayor Mackey, when asked if an officer had been selected to head the Cotton Palace squad, replied that he was not aware of it if Commissioner Dollins and Chief Barron had agreed on any officer for that position. He said the wishes and advice of the police chief in this matter would rule the situation to a great extent, the chief being in intimate touch with the rest of the officers of the force and perhaps better qualified than any one else to determine who is best fitted for the supervision of the police on the exposition grounds during the two weeks' season.

Flock of Fly Cops Coming.

Chief of Police Hollis Barron stated yesterday that the 1913 Cotton Palace would be the best policed fair in the state. In addition to an extra number of local men on the force, there will be special detectives engaged from all the big cities of Texas. The idea in engaging men from various cities is that they will be more effective in spotting crooks from their own district. The chief trouble the police have suffered previously at the Cotton Palace has been from the out-of-town crooks who make their headquarters during the exposition.

Discuss Plans Tomorrow.

There will be an efficiency meeting in the city court room Sunday afternoon, when the local officers will discuss problems of the coming work at the Cotton Palace. Chief Barron, Mayor Mackey and Police Commissioner Dollins will probably address the meeting in regard to the interpretation of various city ordinances, and the best ways of enforcing them.

ICYDA'S LITTLE SON A PRODIGY.

Seven-Year-Old Boy Will Appear with Lecturer at Y. M. C. A. The committee in charge of the meetings for men at the Young Men's Christian association on Sunday afternoon promises a rare treat in store for the men of Waco next Sunday.

Mr. A. Leyda and his remarkable son, 7 years of age, will be at the association. The father will give one of his lectures, while the son, Dixie, will demonstrate some of the remarkable things that a boy of seven summers may do if properly trained.

Mr. Leyda is a Japanese lecturer of note. He is in demand on the lecture platform and has been cordially received all over the country.

There will be no charge made for the lecture.

PLEASURE AND PROFIT RESULT

POWER AND LIGHT MANAGERS CLOSE HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL MEETING.

SILVER SERVICE FOR RATHELL

Token of the Esteem of His Fellow Managers of the Service Presented to Waco Manager.

W. S. Rathell, local manager of the Texas Power and Light company and one of the oldest members of the operating department of that company in point of service and considered dean of that department, was the recipient of a handsome silver service, as a present from the visiting local managers just before the two days' session of that body adjourned yesterday.

Presented by F. R. Slater.

The presentation was made by F. R. Slater in behalf of the visiting managers. The service consists of a coffee, tea, sugar bowl, spoon holder and cream pitcher and platter. It is a handsome service. The following inscription was engraved on the platter: "Presented to W. S. Rathell by Texas Power and Light Company, Convention, October 9-10, 1913, Waco, Texas." The gift came as a suggestion from J. D. Olinger, purchasing agent of the company. His suggestion came because of the long service Mr. Rathell had rendered, and for his endeavors during the convention to entertain the visitors. The "purse" for the gift was collected at dinner at the noon hour yesterday.

Rathell Sweetens the Pot.

A hat was passed and Mr. Rathell, not knowing the purpose of the collection, dropped his dollar among those of the other managers. Later his donation was returned in the form of a $1 gold piece.

The session of the managers came to an end yesterday afternoon shortly before 4 o'clock and the greater number of them returned home last night. The meeting according to those who attended resulted in much good for the efficiency of the company.

The Morning Session.

Yesterday morning's session began with an address on accounting by C. E. Calder, secretary and treasurer of the company's home office at Dallas. He laid strong stress on the importance of the local manager making reports to the accounting department and outlined in a clear brief manner the aims of his department and the duties that each manager owed to this department and to the company.

Hartwell Jalowick, commercial manager, addressed the managers on "Commercializing the Light and Power Business." This commercial department, he said, was for the purpose of assisting local managers, and is composed of experts whose duty it is to advise the manager as to any question about which he might be in doubt. He urged co-operation between the local and the main offices of the company.

All Join in Discussion.

General discussion followed each address, this being for the purpose of bringing out difficulties that each manager encountered, and explanations of how these difficulties were met.

At noon luncheon was served at the State House. In the afternoon discussion on commercialism and rates was engaged in. A talk by Gordon Kribs on "Co-operation of the Engineering Department," and discussion by J. D. Olinger, purchasing agent, followed. A paper was read by F. W. E. Weiske, meter engineer, on "Meters."

On Top of the Amicable.

At noon yesterday the managers were the guests of the president of the Amicable Life Insurance company on a sightseeing tour to the top of the Amicable building. Also a group picture of the visitors and local company officials was taken in front of the local offices.

No date was set for holding the next convention. The matter was determined later by higher officials of the company. Neither President J. F. Strickland nor Vice President George S. Haley were present at the meeting, both being detained from business engagements.

Thanks to Waco Men.

During their stay in Waco the visiting managers and company officials were entertained by the local branch of the company. In behalf of the visitors, Mr. Calder extended thanks to the Waco company officials and employees for their hospitality and courtesies.

The gathering of local managers of this company is probably without parallel in any meetings of a similar nature ever held here. Such assemblies were inaugurated by the company a half year ago when the local managers from over the state were called together at Dallas. The purpose was to bring the men into closer personal relations, and to make of the employees of the company, that is the men responsible in the various towns where working, a family, all working toward the same end. This method, officials of the company say, is proving very satisfactory.

Survey Excites Curiosity.

A party of surveyors is at work near Axtell, thirteen miles east of Waco, Mexico. Although it is rumored that this is the preliminary step in a new interurban proposition, those in touch with the situation say that it is surveying in relation to the laying of a gas line from Mexico.

SMITH, 3 TIMES TRIED, IS FREE

JURY ACQUITS HIM OF KILLING OF HIS NAMESAKE, JIM SMITH.

VERDICT RETURNED LAST NIGHT

Self Defense His Successful Plea—The Jury Deliberated Less Than Two Hours.

William Smith, on trial for the third time on a charge of killing Jim Smith, was acquitted by a jury in the Fifty-Fourth District court last night. The jury reached a verdict within two hours after the adjournment of court and after the case had been placed in their hands.

Court adjourned at 6 o'clock, after which the jury was taken to supper and then direct to their deliberating rooms. At a few minutes to 8 o'clock they reported to Deputy Sheriff Lee Jenkins that they were ready to return a verdict. Thirty minutes were lost in an effort to find the defendant. Smith had been at the court house a short time previous, but had gone for a walk. At 10 o'clock he returned and the jury was brought in. By an agreement between attorneys for the defense and state District Clerk Bob McClain received and read the verdict. It was not guilty.

Family Around Him.

With Smith when the verdict was returned were his two sons, one a lad and the other the most grown, and two women relatives.

The disposal of the case against William Smith closes one of the oldest charges on the McLennan county criminal docket.

The killing for which he was three times tried occurred November 23, 1907. Smith was indicted for manslaughter. At his first trial a jury found him guilty and assessed his punishment at three years' imprisonment. Appeal was taken, the case reversed and remanded. On second trial he was again found guilty and punishment assessed at two years in the penitentiary. Appeal was again taken, the case reversed and remanded, and on third trial Smith was acquitted.

Self-Defense His Plea.

Smith claimed self-defense, alleging that the dead man had shot at him. The killing was the result of an altercation over the possession of a barn situated in Edgfield, a suburb to Waco.

A peculiar incident of the last trial was the absence of the only eyewitness to the killing. This was A. D. James, a preacher. James testified at a previous trial. Later he disappeared and all efforts to find him five years have been of no avail. His testimony at the previous trial was introduced by the defense at the trial, which closed yesterday.

TO DEAL FAIRLY WITH THE CITY

POLICY OF SOUTHERN TRACTION OUTLINED BY GENERAL MANAGER.

STICHTER BEFORE COMMISSION

He Promises a Conductor for Every Car—Cost Will Be $7,300 Additional Annually.

The Southern Traction company will place conductors on all cars operating in Waco within sixty days from September 27, according to a statement made to the city commission yesterday morning by R. B. Stichter, general manager of the company. Mr. Stichter came before the commission to present plans of the company looking to this end.

At a previous meeting the commission had authorized the city attorney to bring in an ordinance which would require the car company to either place conductors on all cars or open both ends of all cars.

Working in Harmony.

Mr. Stichter said: "It seems that the commission and the street car company are working along the same lines at the same time. Mr. Strickland, president of the company, issued instructions to me on September 23, directing me to arrange for placing conductors on all cars and in Waco, I immediately got into touch with Mr. Ross, local manager of the company. My letter to him was dated September 27. Later he and I talked over the matter, and he agreed to take the matter upon himself and to take the necessary steps to break in a new man. On the 7th of October the commission in order that no further action by that body requiring conductors would be necessary. The commission agreed that no action would be taken requiring conductors and that the company would be given time to carry out their plans. The cost of manning all cars with conductors will reach $7,300 per year in addition to the conductors now employed. Mr. Stichter said.

Wants to Be Set Right.

Mr. Stichter stated that his company desired to be placed right before the commission in order that no further action by that body requiring conductors would be necessary. The commission agreed that no action would be taken requiring conductors and that the company would be given time to carry out their plans. The cost of manning all cars with conductors will reach $7,300 per year in addition to the conductors now employed. Mr. Stichter said.

In regard to a delay in shipment of extra cars for the Waco line, Mr. Stichter said: "We have had a great many things to contend with, as you know. In March we purchased more cars to come to Waco. The manufacture of these cars was delayed and they were to be delivered in July, they have not been delivered yet. We sent a man to St. Louis to hurry up the cars, and he has daily kept my office advised as to progress. The cars are now being shipped. We have attempted to get delivery regardless of expense."

More Cars Coming.

Mr. Stichter exhibited a large number of telegrams sent since August 18, which show the effort his company had made to get delivery of cars. The last telegram was that ten interurban cars and the three Waco cars would be shipped on Saturday night, October 11. Mr. Stichter said the demand for street cars over the country was so great that all manufacturing companies were flooded with orders; that there were at least a half dozen representatives of street railway lines in St. Louis preparing a budget to take various cities over the country. He said he and his company would appreciate at any time the opportunity to meet and discuss such questions where complaint is made of the city officials, and that his company had done everything possible to insure quick delivery of cars. He also said the interurban line starts Monday.

With reference to opening both ends of a car to the city, Mr. Stichter said it was safest to unload and load from the front end of a car and on the rear side of the street.

The commission will take no further action awaiting the result of Mr. Stichter's statements.

Killed Playing War.

Littlefield, Lamb County, Tex., Oct. 10.—Pete Marsh, 16 year old son of a foreman of one of the railway construction gangs here, and a little Mexican boy played war with a gun. The Mexican caught hold of the gun barrel and in his effort to take it away from the other boy it was discharged, the shot striking the Mexican in the abdomen, passing entirely through his body. He was hurried to Lubbock for surgical attention, but slight hopes are entertained for his recovery.

SOUTHWESTERN CANNOT GIVE TELEPHONE SERVICE TO EVERYBODY.

Manager Cox, Before Commission, Explains That Cables Are Crowded to Capacity in Some Sections.

Cables carrying lines of the Southwestern Telephone and Telegraph company in certain sections of Waco are crowded to capacity, and until the head office makes up a budget providing for larger cables that company cannot give service to additional persons within those sections, according to H. M. Cox, local manager, who was called before the city commission yesterday. The most crowded of these sections is in Provident Heights, says Mr. Cox.

Inquiry Into Specific Case.

Inquiry into delay in furnishing a telephone to L. Friedlander, 1521 German street, instigated by the commission on complaint of Mr. Friedlander, developed these facts. Mr. Friedlander came before that body and stated that he had applied to the Southwestern company for a phone six weeks ago. The answer to his application was that the company could not give service because they did not have sufficient facilities to handle an increase in business in that section. Mr. Friedlander stated that he had been informed by Mr. M. Cox, local manager, that while phone service was given to residents all along the street on which Mr. Friedlander lives, he could not furnish him with a phone before January 1, or possibly not until after that date. Mr. Friedlander characterized the situation as "a disgrace, and a drawback to the city because new residents did not understand the situation."

Many Other Complaints.

Mr. Friedlander's complaint called to mind of the commissioners complaints made by other citizens, and resulted in a decision to summon the local manager for a statement. Mayor James H. Mackey received a complaint made by a resident at Twenty-third and Concord streets, who he said had been trying to obtain service for two months. In this connection the mayor said Mr. Cox had informed him that the company was preparing a budget to take care of the Waco situation. He also asked City Attorney John Maxwell if there was any way to compel that company to give service. Mr. Maxwell replied that the question depended upon the franchise, which he had not investigated. Commissioner Littlefield then moved, and the motion was passed, that the city attorney be instructed to bring in an opinion as soon as possible as to acquiring the commission with its authority with reference to the Southwestern. Mayor Mackey expressed himself as believing it was within the province of the commission to require that company to live up to the law.

Cox Tells of Conditions.

At this juncture Mr. Cox, summoned by telephone, arrived. The matter was laid before him and he said: "The cable to that section of the city is full, and it will require a larger cable to take care of the situation." It was suggested to him that service lines could be tied onto back towards the city, to which he responded that such method would not benefit half the applicants, and would be expensive and not be satisfactory. He said that from time to time applications for phones are made, that could not be supplied, and that in the overloaded cable section the only way service can be given to other subscribers is for some one to discontinue their phone.

Commissioner J. A. Littlefield took the position that his company and the other telephone company had the inside field here and should give prompt service.

He said: "You have a right to go on the streets and you are not giving competent service. The people expect both telephone companies to give prompt service. Another company cannot come here now and be a financial success."

Mr. Cox said he did not know how long the cable had been overloaded. He said construction work was put in on the five, ten and fifteen year basis and that the growth of some sections of the city had been so rapid that the cables had become too small.

The matter was left open until Thursday's meeting, when Mr. Cox will again come before the board, at which time he hopes to have information from the head offices of his company, which will solve the problem.

In line with scientists' recommendations that a series of stations be established in Europe from which balloons can be regularly liberated for air current study, Germany has opened more than fifteen such stations and Russia plans to establish fifty.

READS WACO NEWS IN GERMANY

American Dentist Abroad Applies for Enlistment in United States Navy.

Reading in "a Waco newspaper," the name of which he does not specify, that a branch of the United States navy recruiting service had been established in Waco, B. Middleton, a dentist, formerly of Texas, but now residing in Lake Constance, Germany, has written from that city to Recruiting Officer Ernest Musselwhite, applying for enlistment in Uncle Sam's naval service. The local recruiting station advertised in the Morning News.

The dentist states in his communication that a copy of the paper was handed to him by an American whom he met in the German city where he has been living for some time. He desires to enter the naval service and prefers to enter through a recruiting office in this state.

"I have to turn down this application," said Musselwhite yesterday, "but the applicant is ineligible because he states in his letter that he is 40 years old. That is above the maximum. I presume he desires to enter the hospital corps and the prescribed ages for this service range from 18 to 25 years. I don't have the heart to inform this Texas man directly that he is disqualified by age. I have forwarded his application to the central office of this district at Dallas, where Lieut. Collins is in charge."

Officer Musselwhite is keeping the Waco station abreast of the recruiting offices showing best results in Texas. The average of enlistments through the Waco office is greater than any other office in the state of the same population in the state. Two applicants for navy uniforms were examined by Musselwhite and passed on to the headquarters office at Dallas this week. They are E. B. Robertson, who hails from Dawson, and L. W. Adams, whose home port is Dallas.
